AIR GIGANTIC SUGAR PLOT

Reveals Harding's Views on Court

HUGHES IN REPLY TO SOLONS

Claims President Has No Intention of Asking New Treaty

PLAN MUST AWAIT COMING CONGRESS

Lodge Declines to Call Meeting of Foreign Relations Committee

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Harding administration has no intention of attempting to negotiate a treaty with the powers now participating in the permanent court of international justice which would provide for compulsory arbitration of international disputes, Secretary of State Hughes declared in a letter to President Harding which was sent to the foreign relations committee today.

Hughes' letter was in reply to recent questions of the foreign relations committee regarding the recent letter of President Harding asking senate approval of American participation in the court. Hughes frankly told the President that it would be futile for him to attempt to obtain compulsory arbitration agreements with other nations after becoming a member of the court, because the senate would not approve such action. The secretary referred to several instances in the past twenty years when the same senate rejected the idea of compulsory arbitration.

The secretary replied mainly to the questions of Senator Borah, who believes that the nations of the world should set up some agency with wide powers to settle international disputes. By his letter, Hughes indicated that the administration might favor the plan of compulsory arbitration and place responsibility for any blocking of it on the senate. The secretary stated that of the forty-six nations which have signed the protocol of the court, about fifteen have also approved an optional clause for compulsory arbitration. This latter class, however, does not include Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy.

Hughes again declared that the ratification of the court protocol by the senate would not impose on the United States any other obligations of the treaty of Versailles or the league of nations covenant. In response to an inquiry as to whether any other nations had made reservations to the court protocol, Hughes said he knew of none.

The President sent the Hughes letter to the senate with a brief note stating that it had his "most hearty approval."

Senator Lodge said he would not call a meeting of the foreign relations committee for consideration of the President's request that the United States adhere to the court.

MONTE CARLO, March 2.—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, woman tennis champion of the world, triumphed today over her old rival, Molla Maloney, when, paired with Miss Elizabeth Ryan in the doubles, she won from Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Howett, 6-0, 6-1.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Harding today signed the army appropriation bill. The bill provides for an army of 125,000 men and 12,000 officers and appropriates approximately $336,000,000 for the army establishments.

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Calif., March 2.—Regina Chavez was hanged here today for murder of a relative in Imperial county. He was pronounced dead 12 minutes after the trap was sprung.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Harding today nominated William P. James of California to be United States district judge in the southern district of California and John S. Partridge of California to be federal judge in the northern district.

Inquiry Clears Mayor Accused by Solon Of Slaying Orderly

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Major H. L. Ople, Staunton, Va., stood exonerated today of the charge that he shot down his orderly on the battle front in France during the World War.

Major Ople's exoneration was contained in a report filed with the senate by Senator Ernest of Kentucky in connection with a general report on the charges by the late Senator Tom Watson of Georgia, that A. E. F. men were executed without trial or court martial.

The general report found that Watson's charges were utterly groundless and without foundation. It was a unanimous report of the special committee that investigated Watson's charges for weeks.

ENTERS RACE FOR POSITION AS RECORDER

Automobile Park Proprietor Files Nomination Papers as Candidate.

George S. Richardson, proprietor of Richardson's auto park at 511 North Sycamore street, today filed nomination papers as a candidate for city recorder, thus giving the incumbent, W. F. Heathman, a contest for the position.

Richardson has been a resident of Santa Ana for four years and prior to opening the parking station was store and advertising manager for the Spurgeon Furniture company. He is a graduate of Howard college, Birmingham, Alabama, where he received his D. A. He also has taken a business course.

"I feel that I am competent to administer justice in cases coming before the city recorder's court and will go before the people and ask their support on the ground that I am fully qualified for the office," said Richardson.

Mrs. Olive Lopez today filed her nominating petition as a candidate for city treasurer.

LONG VACATION FOR CONGRESS DRAWS NEAR

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, March 2.—The first rumblings of a great exodus of government officials, congressmen, politicians and lobbyists from the nation's capital were heard today.

With the death of the sixty-seventh congress tomorrow night or Sunday, the movement will be in full swing and by early next week Washington will be a "deserted village" officially and politically.

The prospective absence of a congress from Washington from March to December will be the longest rest the nation has had from legislative oratory since before the war. The final gavel of the session will be the signal for a series of junket, vacation trips and itinerant investigations that for some weeks at least will strip Washington of its leading public men.

Harding Going South

President Harding will join in the movement Monday when he and Mrs. Harding leave for a month's vacation trip in Florida. With the presidential party will be Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks, Brigadier General Sawyer, Speaker Gillett of the house, Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, Attorney General Clegg, Secretary Christian, Senator Frelinghuysen and others.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, other high naval officials and a goodly number of congressmen will sail Monday for a five weeks cruise to the West Indies and the Panama Canal to witness the maneuvers of the United States fleet.

Early next month, the army transport St. Mihiel with Secretary Weeks, some congressmen and other officials aboard, will sail on an investigating cruise of the military posts in the insular possessions of the United States.

TELL VIEWS AS TO Y BUILDING

Here's Finley Statement On Y Building Situation

To Friends of Y. M. C. A., Santa Ana, Cal.: At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. held yesterday for the purpose of considering bids received for the construction of the new building, I was requested, in its behalf, to make a free and frank statement to you covering our present situation. We desire to take all contributors and others into our confidence, so that we may have the benefit of their advice.

At the time of the campaign for funds it was thought that a building to cost $135,000, without furniture and equipment, was the limit to which we might aspire, and that it would reasonably meet our needs.

The building committee desired to keep the cost within the limits of our funds, so that there would be no debt when the building was completed. To that end, we asked our architects and the National Building Bureau to submit preliminary plans on that basis. This was done, and after their careful consideration by the building committee and Board of Directors it was our unanimous conclusion they did not meet the needs of our growing city. We had to recognize the fact that the Santa Ana of last June was not the Santa Ana of today, and that in a few years the contrast would be still greater.

Many features of a modern Y. M. C. A. building had to be cramped or left out entirely. Such a building could not be added to later without a sacrifice in appearance and a large addition in cost. A semi-frame construction would have been necessary. We did not feel that our people would be satisfied with the result when completed. Therefore we instructed our architects to submit a new set of plans, meeting the needs of our growing community, of fire proof construction and of a type that could be added to without destroying its symmetry. We realized that the cost would be in excess of our available funds, but felt that our people should be given the opportunity to have a building of which they would be proud.

The bids received are considered very reasonable, and show that the building which in our judgment Santa Ana should have will cost $400,000 more than we first planned. The question is—What do you wish us to do?

Shall we go back to the original inadequate building and keep within the funds provided, or shall we make an effort to raise an additional $200,000 and build on the new plan, eliminating the auxiliary gymnasium and leaving the entire third floor of dormitories unfinished, except exterior walls, or raise an additional $400,000 and complete the plant in its entirety?

NEWCASTLE, Pa., March 2.—Two men were killed by an explosion which destroyed the press mill, a frame building at the plant of the Grasselli Powder company at Quaker Falls, near here today. Cause of the explosion was not determined. The dead are John Lyons, 30, and George Brock, 26.

The force of the explosion was so great that houses in Hillsville, six miles away, were rocked and windows broken.

FEAR TWO DEAD IN HUNT FOR 'LOST' MINE

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 2.—Frank Anderson, of Seattle, and a companion whose name is not known, are believed to be lost in the great Mojave desert, without water or food, and fighting the blinding sandstorms—if they are still alive.

Searching parties of weathered "desert rats," men who have fought the waterless, silent places for years, were today sent out in an effort to get trace of the missing men.

Anderson came to San Bernardino about three weeks ago, and then went to Victorville. He was said to have discovered valuable diamond mining property on the Mojave desert two years ago, but lacked funds to develop it.

In Financial Trouble

Recently he is said to have become involved in financial difficulties in Seattle, and to have come here in an effort to re-discover the mine and recoup his fortunes.

O. A. Bibbins, another man who accompanied Anderson here, remained in Victorville when his two companions set out to locate the diamond set again.

Companion Remains Silent

He remained silent for over two weeks, not wishing to divulge his fears for fear of "tipping off" the formation as to the mine. At last he told the authorities of his fears that the pair were lost, saying they had not taken enough provisions and water with them to last two weeks.

L. F. Chester, Seattle attorney, handling Anderson's affairs, was

FOLK FAVOR INCREASING S. A. FUND

City's Rapid Growth Underestimated at Time Plans Were Made

When the bids for the Y. M. C. A. building were opened yesterday the fact was disclosed that a complete building, adequate to meet the already enlarged demand of Santa Ana and to provide for even immediate and assured future growth, could not be built for the funds available. The alternatives seem to be:

1.—To abandon the present plans and build an inadequate and wholly unsatisfactory complete building.

2.—To build an ultimately and potentially adequate incomplete building.

3.—To raise additional funds.

4.—To incur indebtedness.

Which of these alternatives the subscribers to the fund and the citizens generally would prefer to have adopted is the question that confronts the trustees.

In the conception of the plans for a Y. M. C. A. for Santa Ana, two mistakes were made.

First, the rapid growth of Santa Ana then in progress and which has since been going on in rapidly increasing ratio was underestimated.

Second, those who initiated the movement underestimated the real needs of Santa Ana, even on the basis of its population at that time.

The trustees are convinced that it would be bad economy to build an incomplete building on adequate plans, and that it would be worse economy to build an inadequate building to which it would be impractical and uneconomical to make additions in the future; and yet they do not believe they should assume the responsibility of undertaking to raise additional funds without presenting the matter fully and frankly to the public for consideration.

Conservative estimates indicate an increase in population, since the original program was mapped out, of at least 3500 people, and it is almost certain that the population of Santa Ana will continue to increase at the rate of two or three thousand a year.

Thus it is stated, as concisely as possible, what seems to be the condition confronting the Y. M. C. A. directors and the consensus of opinion and conclusion among them. Adjoining is an official statement from S. H. Finley, president of the board.

Going beyond the members of the board of directors, The Register has endeavored to obtain the opinions of some of the principal workers in the campaign in which the Y. M. C. A. building fund was raised, and also of a few of the contributors. These opinions are submitted as follows:

S. H. Finley—The amount necessary to complete the plan free of debt, is less than a 15 per cent increase over that already pledged. The population of the city has increased at least half that much since the drive. Many people were missed in the former appeal. Others, for various reasons, were not in a position at that time to make a pledge of the amount which they earnestly desired to make. I believe our people will be willing to meet the emergency and avoid the necessity of an incomplete building, and consequently would approve an appeal later for increased funds. To do otherwise, it seems to me, would be bad judgment.

A. J. McFadden—It would be a serious error to "slump" the building. I am not in position today, however, to express an opinion on the advisability of attempting to raise more money.

Charles F. Heil—Nothing should be built in Santa Ana that is incomplete. The character of our city demands the best. It has been my business policy in the past few years to build right and perfectly.

Friends of Captain Frank Nidder and Captain Jerry Shively, the murdered fishing boat skippers, demanded today that the authorities speed up the investigation.

600 Alleged Victims In Land Case Ask $10,000,000 Damages

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 2.—Damage claims totalling $10,000,000 were demanded in civil suits today by alleged victims of the nation's greatest land fraud, for which W. E. Stewart, millionaire land promoter, was convicted in federal court here.

Six hundred former customers of the wealthy land man, who purchased land in the "magic valley" of the Rio Grande, filed suits in various parts of the country for return of money they paid Stewart for their property.

More than 100 suits were filed here, sixty more will be tried in district court at Hidalgo county, Texas. Other claims were filed in various parts of the middle west by disgruntled purchasers of the "magic lands".

HOLDS KLAN OATH ABOVE STATE LAW

Alleged Member of "Invisible Empire" Faces Jail Rather Than Testify in Case.

TOPEKA, Kansas, March 2.—Members of the Ku Klux Klan hold their oath in the "invisible empire" more binding than the laws of Kansas, it was indicated today when Guy Swallow, former police chief, refused to take an oath administered under the power of the state supreme court. Swallow had been summoned as a witness in the hearing to oust the Klan from Kansas.

The attorney general was ordered to apply to the supreme court for a writ of attachment to place Swallow in jail until he is willing to testify.

Swallow was called after a witness had testified he had seen Swallow on several occasions with H. H. Kitchen, alleged organizer of the Klan, who was committed to jail late yesterday for refusing to give testimony.

For example, if sugar is purchased in 100 pound bags, which is not being encouraged, the price is $11.00 per bag for beet sugar. Cane is $11.20.

If the purchaser wants only two pounds, however, the individual merchant quotes a price of 12 1/2 cents per pound.

Combination stores were quoting cane sugar at $9.90, in hundred pound bags, while the same quantity of beet sugar retails at $9.70 per hundred pounds.

Wholesale prices today, according to Santa Ana dealers, were $9.75 for beet sugar, and $9.95 for cane sugar.

But another increase is in immediate prospect and retailers predicted that sugar will be selling around $15 per bag before the end of the summer canning season.

Tomorrow higher prices will prevail. At the same time that Brookhart was demanding congressional action in Washington, Pacific coast refiners announced price increases.

The California Hawaiian company early today increased its price twenty cents per hundred pounds, to $9.50.

The Western Sugar Refining company followed soon after by announcing a 25-cent increase, to $9.55.

The new prices are quoted on first quality sugar on sales by the refiners.

Orange county wholesalers and retailers agreed with Senator Brookhart that speculators have succeeded in boosting prices from about $7 to $7.25 per hundred pounds, a few weeks ago, to the present levels.

Retailers said Brookhart's advice to housewives to defeat the manipulators by cutting down on the consumption of sugar was sane enough, but admitted that it is difficult to convince the buying public that this is the solution of the problem.

"People will continue to buy," said one retailer, "and the speculators will reap their reward. In our case, however, we have not advocated the sale of sugar in 100 lots for the past few weeks.

Of course, if a purchaser insists upon buying in bag lots, we will have to meet his demands, but his bag of sugar will cost him today eleven cents per pound, or $11.00 per bag. Tomorrow many stores will announce another increase to meet the coast advances.

On February 27, manipulators started a new rumor in Wall street that the department of commerce was about to issue another sugar statement, estimating the coming Cuban crop at 3,200,000 tons. The immediate effect of this was to drive raw sugar from 4 13-16 cents per pound to 5 1-2 cents.

Reputable sugar dealers who have refrained from purchasing during the present frenzy of speculation, notified government officials that if this report were true sugar would go to 15 cents. This report was denied, but su-

Despite the fact that a congressional investigation of the alleged sugar shortage was demanded in a resolution introduced today by Senator Brookhart of Iowa, Santa Ana and Orange county residents were offered scant encouragement by wholesale and retail dealers: who have kept close tab on the sugar market for the past six weeks.

Sugar gamblers are now out to drive the price of sugar to 15 cents, according to a report current in well informed government quarters in Washington.

In Santa Ana today retail prices for sugar ranged from $9.90 to $11.00 per hundred pounds, depending upon whether the buyers patronize chain stores or individual merchants.

TWAIN'S FRIEND OF PILOTING DAYS DIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 1.—David S. Green, hero of many of Mark Twain's Mississippi river yarns, died here recently, a wealthy stock broker. Mr. Green was 83. He served in his youth as "cub" pilot under Mark Twain on a

Mr. Green was born near Henderson, the son of a wealthy plantation owner. The family fortune, however, was wiped out by the Civil war and he secured work as a "cub" pilot on a river boat.

VICK'S RESTORATION IS CREDITED TO TANLAC

Well Known Citizen Declares Famous Medicine Entirely Overcame Indigestion, Dizziness and Worn Out Feeling, Following Attack of Flu.

That Tanlac is the ideal strength and body builder for people suffering from stomach trouble, nervousness, a run-down condition and other ailments that follow in the wake of influenza, has been conclusively proved by the statements of thousands who have tested its remarkable powers. This fact is further substantiated by the experience of Clarence M. Vick, 717 W. 52nd Place, Los Angeles, Cal., who made the following statement the other day:

"After having influenza I was in such a run-down condition I hardly felt fit for anything. I was so nervous I was all out of sorts, and constipation worried me, too, more or less all the time. I felt dizzy-headed, dull and worn-out, and in fact, I just felt dead on my feet."

"I noticed in the papers the great number of people who were praising Tanlac, and I decided to give the treatment a trial myself. After taking it for a few weeks I am rid of all my troubles, have gained ten pounds in weight, and feel as fine as I ever did in my life. In my case Tanlac has proven beyond a doubt that it is the proper medicine for a run-down condition."

Mr. Vick's trouble was relieved by Tanlac because it toned up his vital organs and enabled him to digest his food properly. Severe colds and fatigue invariably leave the body in a weakened condition, which, if too long neglected, is apt to develop into more serious affections. Tanlac is found to be the direct remedy in all such cases, for there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by its helpful action. Tanlac begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby, enriching the blood and invigorating the entire system. It enables the weak, disordered stomach to thoroughly digest its food and convert it into nourishment for blood, bone and muscle.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Adv.

CHARLIE, POLA MEND BROKEN ROMANCE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Charlie Chaplin's broken romance with Pola Negri has been mended. They are engaged again today following the breaking of their recently announced engagement by Pola late yesterday when she read a report quoting Chaplin as saying that he was "too poor to marry just now."

On learning the news last night, Chaplin rushed to Pola's beautiful home on Hollywood boulevard and staged a dramatic scene.

Pacing the floor, he begged and pleaded with the beautiful Pola to reconsider her decision, according to reports, and demanded a reason for her tempestuous termination of their engagement.

Pola is said to have listened to him haughtily and to have pointed to his announcement that he was "too poor to marry" and that his marriage to her would be indefinitely postponed.

Pola Sees Star This, she is said to have told him, she interpreted as a direct slur indicating that he did not wish to conclude their marriage but desired to be free again.

The comedy king is said to have declared that this was not the case; that the remark was not to be so interpreted and that he only made it in light vein to a newspaperman.

The scene ended, according to reports, with Pola retiring to the second floor in hysterics, and Chaplin remaining on the other, in a state declared to be "man-hysterics."

At midnight lights in the house were still burning brightly.

Charlie was said to have explained and explained—being "too poor to marry," was a standing joke in America. He had only made it in jest to a reporter in order to explain why they were not to marry at once.

It was then that Pola became highly excited and dramatically refused to hear more. She rushed upstairs, while the comedy king remained at the bottom of the broad staircase, pouring out his anguished plea for another chance.

Beauty Heads Pleas Charlie refused to leave. He sent messages by the maid. And at last the beautiful Polish actress consented to listen to it all over again in a cooler mood.

After that visitors were barred, but both Pola and Charlie finally sent word that it was all over, and that Charlie wasn't to be "given the gate" after all.

In the early hours of the morning, the little comedian came out to his car, still running his nervous fingers through his graying hair.

Yes, it was all over. It was a regrettable misunderstanding, but it was all fixed up now, he admitted.

And the publicity men gleefully rushed forth with the news—in time for the afternoon papers that Charlie and Pola would get another million dollar's worth of free publicity today.

will be in April. Several senators and house members will go to Europe. Among them are some presidential possibilities.

Senator Underwood of Alabama left a few days ago for the old world and he will be followed by Senators Johnson, Borah and Moses, three of the leading irreconcilables in the Versailles treaty fight.

Harding Coming West. Late in the summer, President Harding probably will visit the middle and far west, making several speeches. He may reach Alaska, but this is not regarded as probable.

Senators Kellogg and Pomerene, both defeated for re-election will journey to the Pan-American conference at Santiago, Chile, as members of the American delegation.

Secretary of State Hughes is one of the few officials who turned down a real chance to leave Washington. He will not visit South America and, with the absence of the president and vice president, will be the ranking government official in Washington.

endum. The referendum has been chiefly used in Missouri, Kansas next door neighbor, by the Democratic reactionary machine to kill progressive legislation. It is therefore unpopular.

The governor wishes to abolish commissions, reduce salaries and cut down state activities generally. He vetoed an increase appropriation for entomological research. The dirt farmers don't want any professors hunting for their bugs. He is trying to reduce the Public Utilities commission to one man, and to turn back most of the state regulating to local authorities. Salaries of public officials are to be put back to the pre-war basis. State through road building is to stop and the money turned over to the various supervisors for local roads, to save local road taxes.

But the legislature uniformly refuses to do anything the governor requests. It will make adequate appropriations for state institutions and activities and will not join in the program of extravagant economy. And the governor is not displeased. The deadlock being a partisan one, it gives him the chance to charge the legislators with "playing politics," and to prepare for the appeal to the people at the next election.

Kansas never went Democratic or Populist twice in succession. If Governor Davis were a stronger, a wiser and a finer man, he might have a chance to break that record now. As it is, the chances are that this particular revolt in Kansas, just because it used the old-fashioned machinery of the Democratic party, instead of the newer methods in vogue further north, will be short-lived than any of them.

CITRUS SURVEY ON BIG SCALE IS PLANNED

Orange county, credited with being the wealthiest valencia orange district in the world, today was being mapped for a citrus survey.

The survey, which will take six weeks to complete, according to Professor H. S. Valle, citrus expert, probably will add further proof that the citrus groves of Southern California are in their prime, and steadily increasing their maximum of production.

"Surveys of San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties," said Professor Valle, "showed that 35-year-old trees are higher producers than 25-year-old trees, and so on down the line."

"No evidence was found of any tree or grove in these two counties having reached its maximum age or maximum production. What that age will be at which production will fall or retrogress has not yet been found here."

Professor Valle of the Riverside experiment station arrived here early today to take part in the citrus committee meeting of the Orange county farm bureau at the bureau office here, where plans were to be laid for the county citrus survey.

Eighteen growers, representative of the citrus wealth of the county, composed the committee. H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, said.

MEMBER OF NOTED FAMILY IS CALLED

Death claimed a son of one of Orange county's old Spanish families yesterday when Mrs. Legardo Sepulveda, 43, wife of Fidel Sepulveda, died at the family home at San Juan Capistrano.

Mrs. Sepulveda was a Jimenez, daughter of S. Jimenez. Her husband, Fidel Sepulveda, was at one time postmaster in the Mission town.

The funeral services will be conducted by Smith and Tutill at the Mission of San Juan Capistrano tomorrow at 10 a. m., with the Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan officiating. Burial will be made in the Mission cemetery.

PRISONER ADMITS HE IS WANTED FOR CRIME

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Ben Smith, wanted in Fort Worth, Tex., for the murder of James Liston, today admitted to local police that he was John Hallum, fugitive. He denied the murder, however, and says he will not fight extradition, but will face trial.

The Liston murder occurred in November, 1917. Smith, arrested here a week ago, had steadfastly denied being Hallum. He somewhat disguised himself through the removal of several scars on his face. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Snow of Fort Worth, arrived today to take Smith back.

TO REGULATE SALE OF SMOKES IN UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 2.—A measure designed to permit the sale of cigarettes in Utah under strict regulations, and providing heavy penalties for unauthorized sale, or for sale to minors, was introduced in the Utah senate this afternoon by the senate committee on public affairs. The new bill is a compromise measure and in some respects is more sweeping than the Southwick law, which it seeks to amend. Whereas advertising of cigarettes is now prohibited, the committee measure aims to prevent the advertising of tobacco of any form, in newspapers, on bill boards or elsewhere.

URGE INCREASE IN FUNDS FOR LOCAL 'Y'

manently. Santa Ana is growing. We should raise the additional money needed and erect a building that will be a credit to our city and adequate to the needs for some years to come.

W. C. Jerome—With the city growing as it is, we cannot afford to erect an incomplete building. If more money is necessary to the construction of the type and size structure we need for Y. M. C. A. activities, let's go out and get it.

C. E. East—We will be glad to back the judgment of the directors of the organization. The building should not be spoiled by the lack of a few thousand dollars. It should be made adequate to the needs of the community.

W. H. Spurgeon Jr.—I would dislike very much to see the structure incomplete. I don't know how the public would receive an appeal for more funds, but I am of the opinion that an attempt should be made to raise additional funds rather than to attempt a program of construction that would leave the building only partially complete.

Walter N. Vandermaast—I am opposed to construction of a temporary structure for any public project. We should not build for any public organization a building that will be outgrown in a year or two. I would rather see a campaign conducted to increase the fund than to see a building erected for the Y. M. C. A. that would be only partially complete.

J. C. Hayden—Believing that it would be difficult to conduct another campaign to raise funds, my opinion is that the plans of the building should be cut to the size of the fund available. Campaigns are coming on for the Day Nursery and the Ebell clubhouse, and for this reason I doubt that a drive for more money for the Y. M. C. A. would be a success.

Dr. M. A. Patton—The directors should go ahead with the building program and complete the structure, with a canvass later for the funds needed. If they fail in this, they should mortgage the property to complete the structure.

E. B. Sprague—We should raise additional funds. Our city has grown so rapidly in population that a building of the size contemplated at the time of the origination of the plan would be entirely inadequate to the needs of today, to say nothing of the future. By all means, we should construct a building that would be of sufficient capacity to meet the needs of the present and immediate future.

E. H. Richards—The directors should complete the building. It probably would be best to mortgage the property for the amount needed and a year or two later put on a drive for funds to wipe out the mortgage. (We followed this course in constructing a Y. M. C. A. building at Cortland, N. Y., and found no difficulty in raising funds to take care of a mortgage placed on the property. In the end we had to add another story to provide more rooms for young men who desired to make their homes in the Y. M. C. A. building.)

It would be a great mistake to omit the dormitories, for they would prove a source of big revenue.

L. G. Swales—Santa Ana is no longer a cross-road town and what we do we should do right. The Y. M. C. A. building should be complete and it should be of sufficient capacity to meet demands. With drives scheduled for a number of projects of a public character, I question the advisability of a drive now. Mortgaging of the property, with a fund-raising campaign coming later, would, in my opinion, be the best solution to the problem now confronting the directors.

L. A. West—I feel that it would be almost criminal waste of the contributors' money to build as originally planned, when we know and everyone who has given any thought to the situation well knows, that to do so would not meet the requirements of the community to be served. Shall we build in the past and forget the present and future? I do not. We should consider both present and future with reference to the expenditure of the funds entrusted to us, and endeavor to raise sufficient additional funds with which to carry out a program consistent with present needs, and with some vision of the future.

J. P. Baumgartner—I think we ought to raise more money—$40,000 if needed—and build adequately and completely. With the city growing as fast as it is, it is inevitable that the plans made one year, on the basis of the population at that time, will be wholly inadequate the next year; and while those who planned for our Y. M. C. A. building a year ago anticipated and provided—or thought they did—for some future growth, I feel far short of actual requirements.

F. A. Robinson—in my opinion, the better policy at this time would be to complete the building by mortgaging the property for the balance needed. More people are coming to Santa Ana every day, and a campaign conducted a year or two years from now would make it possible to secure subscriptions from men and women who have not contributed and who would be glad of the opportunity to assist in such a cause.

RANGER GIVES TIP ON GETTING CABIN SITES

Forest Ranger H. I. Snider, of Corona, went into Trabuco canyon today to remain over Sunday, and, passing through Santa Ana, stated that if there is anyone in this vicinity who is interested in seeing or getting information concerning cabin sites in the Trabuco or Holy Jim canyons it would be well for that person to go to the Trabuco tomorrow or Sunday and see Snider. Snider will be at the forest ranger camp at the Trabuco forks.

SUGAR PRICES DUE FOR BIG JUMP, VIEW

gar jumped just the same.

To Announce Shortage A new rumor is afloat to the effect that the Cuban secretary of agriculture is about to issue a statement placing the Cuban crop at 3,500,000 tons. The lowest previous estimate was 3,800,000 tons, and the department of commerce estimate was four million tons. This rumor is calculated to add to the speculation.

Government officials declare that these reports originate with manipulators and that the actual sugar situation in no way justifies them. Brookhart will confer with Secretary of Commerce Hoover Saturday on the sugar situation. He hoped to get his resolution adopted by the senate today. He urged the house wives of the country to defeat the manipulators by cutting down on the consumption of sugar.

Says Supply Adequate "I think this would materially break down the manipulation of the sugar market by those who seem to have a corner on the supply at this time," said Brookhart.

He put into the record a letter from Secretary Hoover in which it was stated that there is no sugar shortage but an adequate supply.

"Through the public press and other sources of information, I find that the sugar market is being advanced at a rate so rapid and the consuming public, so press reports indicate, have been mulcted out of many millions of dollars by these advanced prices in sugar, that it would seem to indicate the supply of sugar is in the hands of manipulators," said Brookhart today.

GOOD MANNERS

Sometimes it happens that persons who are on bad terms with one another meet socially at a mutual acquaintance's house. It goes almost without saying that they are bound by every rule of good manners to permit no sign of ill-feeling between them to appear in their behavior. They needn't "gush" but they will make at least a pretense of ordinarily civil relationship.

NEWS BRIEFS

Three permits of $4,000 of buildings were issued here today by W. S. Decker, building inspector. Permits for the month totalled 12 for $16,200, and for the year 318 permits for $791,442 of buildings begun here this year, the records showed.

Tustin farm center will hold its special banquet and meeting tonight at the Tustin high school in joint session with the Tustin Chamber of Commerce, according to the program announced by D. W. Tubbs, president of the Tustin farm center.

Thirty troops of boy scouts of the Orange county council will meet tonight at their respective troop quarters, Roland E. Dye, scout executive, announced today.

"The majority of the Orange county troops hold their weekly meetings Friday night," Dye explained, "at which they plan for week-end outings in addition to regular business and scout practice sessions. A number of troops undoubtedly will plan hikes for this week-end."

Lee L. Alderman, 1073 West Second street, today was still tasting the delicious flavor of a Hale plum he plucked yesterday from a tree in his yard. Ripening of the fruit was entirely out of season and was a freak of nature. There was but the one ripe plum on the tree.

Persimmon growers of Orange county and other Southern California counties will meet at Whittier tomorrow to decide upon a date and place for the coming persimmon institute, H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, announced here today.

Yosemite Valley and its many attractions will be the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given at the First Methodist church here tonight. The lecture will be given at 7:45 o'clock and no admission will be charged.

TREE PLANTING
TALK FEATURE OF AIR BILL

KFAW, The Register radio-phone station, made good its promise of a highly interesting program last night, when it broadcast three important talks by Orange county people.

Each of these talks was followed by an appropriate steel guitar selection, played by Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, of Santa Ana.

Her two Spanish numbers, "O! Sole Mio," and "La Golondrina," were received with delight, according to radio listeners today.

C. D. Chamberlain, instructor in Spanish at the Santa Ana high school, spoke regarding the problem of business intercourse with Mexico and the Central American states. Chamberlain has long studied these countries. His talk was interesting and instructive.

Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, told of some interesting features of her work. It was pointed out that Orange county people are not taking full advantage of the service which is obtainable at the county library.

Talks on Trees

H. E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, was on the program with an excellent treatise on tree planting and horticulture. Next week has been designated as "California Tree Planting Week."

The object is to encourage the planting of shade and other ornamental trees along the highways, in parks, and groves, and in private gardens, and the planting of fruit trees in the yards and home gardens of the people generally.

"We ask your co-operation in this movement because we know you will realize immediately the scenic and economic value of tree planting. Too few of our people have any semblance of a home orchard, despite the fact that there is every natural inducement to plant. Too many of our highways, roads, and parks lack the beauty which is the gift of the tree, and all too few of the home gardens can boast the possession of a shade tree or two.

The success of the present movement means that these conditions will be changed, and each year will see a closer approach to the ideal, until California will add to its other attractions the proud boast that here, as nowhere else in the world, the advantages of tree planting have been realized and utilized until our roads, our parks and our gardens surpass in beauty those to be found elsewhere.

"Church and school grounds can be greatly improved by the planting of trees and shrubs. Church societies, Parent-Teacher associations, school classes and teachers, can arrange attractive programs for Tree Planting week.

"Public parks, groves and streets offer splendid opportunities for civic improvement, which will at the same time make life more attractive and enjoyable.

"You who are 'listening in' can do your part for your home community and for the state, by gathering your neighbors and associates to prepare for this week and its observance in a fitting manner. You will not only help your community, but you will bring added joy and comfort into your own life."

MUSICAL MEET

FUND CONCERT

TO BE HELD

Eleven Orange county musical organizations affiliated with the state music federation will at once begin the development of plans to present their best talent in a joint program March 19, in accordance with plans suggested at a meeting of the convention board held last night at the home of Clarence Gussind, 514 North Main street, president of the Santa Ana Musical association.

The convention board composed of members from the local Musical association and the Orange County Choral union met jointly with the special finance committee composed of A. J. Crookshank, J. P. Baumgartner, Robert L. Brown, Raymond Miles and Fred Rafferty to discuss plans for financing the convention to assemble in this city April 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The concert, to be presented March 19, in the local high school auditorium, was one of the chief matters decided upon. The program will be compiled from the best which the individual clubs will present in the initial tryouts and the result will offer representative talent from all sections of the county.

The local school board has evidenced its friendliness and spirit of co-operation by donating the use of the auditorium on that date and admission of one dollar for adults and fifty cents for students will add, it is believed, a considerable sum to the fund for convention expenses if all plans succeed.

The clubs now affiliated with the state body include the Orange County Music Teachers' association, Orange County Choral union; Musical association, Ebell Music section, High School Glee club, High School orchestra, Rotary quartette, of Santa Ana; Fullerton Boys' Glee club; Newport Beach Ebell Music section; Girls' Glee club, High School orchestra, Huntington Beach.

Wash Goods

TUESDAY
MARCH 6

Last year's Spring Wash Goods Exposition was such a decided success, and created such favorable interest and comment, that it is being repeated this year, with many improvements.

Next Monday's advertisement will inform you fully upon the nature of this event and we would like to have you read it carefully.

The Sportiest Sports Frocks Are of Hazelglo and Roshanara

Few are the women who would not turn time back at least a few years with the naive youthfulness of these new frocks of Hazelglo and Roshanara combined. And few are those from the younger set who would not present a more vibrant, colorful picture than ever before in a dress of Ciel Blue (and mixtures) Hazelglo and Ramie Tan Roshanara Crepe, embroidered with wool yarn, box plaited skirt. $47.50.

color for Spring—something like a light apricot—and is found in a sports dress of Hazelglo (Topaz), trimmed with fine cream Roshanara. A plaited panel down the side front is caught at the waist with white nail-head beads. Yarn embroidery. $57.50.

Another is of Castor Brown Hazelglo and Ramie Tan Roshanara, at $42.50—and another of all Roshanara in Ramie Tan, with beautiful orchid yarn trimming, $39.

A most alluring collection of Sports Frocks.

The Jacquette Blouse
in Vivid French Prints

Though East is East and West is West, the twain are of one mind when it comes to printed blouses. Scarcely a spot on the globe but that's been an inspiration in the figuring of some smart blouse. With the Jacquette prevailing, in smart Russian, Egyptian or Deauville Prints, they are charming indeed. $6.00 to $12.50.

French Prints

They should have originated in Southern California, instead of Deauville, France, so very tropical is the effect they impart—knotted like a bandanna at the throat or over the left shoulder. $2.50 to $7. Persian scarfs in fibre silk, are new—$8.50. Hand-made Minerva Yarn scarfs, $7.50. Tubular silk scarfs in two tones, at $4.50.

The newest mode is a cotton filet weave over body linings of various colors; very loose, light weight. $10.50.

Overblouses in Persian Pink (rose), Green and Black, featuring a new cuff, fancy embroidery, $11.

REFORESTING IS NORTHWEST'S BIG NEED

SEATTLE, Wash., March 2.—Co-operative reforestation, adopted by the state of Washington and lumbering interests immediately and with active regard for the future, is the only plan which will save Washington's vast timber resources from total destruction within forty-five years, according to Dean Hugh Winkenwerder of the College of Forestry, University of Washington.

One hundred and sixty thousand acres of timberland is being logged off annually according to this authority, of which only 15,000 acres is being turned into farmland.

Sixty per cent of the land can never be used for agriculture, and unless replanted with trees, its only possible crop, will lie open to the elements as vacant wastes of stumps until even its tree-bearing possibilities will amount to little.

Seventy per cent of Washington's total business, according to Dean Winkenwerder's statistics, is concerned with lumbering or timber in some direct or indirect form. Hundreds of the state's cities and towns are dependent upon the annual timber cut. Their reason for existence will cease with the death of the forests, unless the logged-off land adjacent to them is cropped and can be made fit for crop raising.

A great portion of the state's population knows no other business save lumbering. In 1915, the last year for which authoritative statistics are available, 54 per cent of the wage earners of the state were engaged in the business of putting lumber on the market.

Several towns and embryo cities in Washington already have had their lives snuffed out with the passing of the timber. Washington reforestation champions are holding up Michigan as the "horrible example" with the warning that Washington should profit by the commonwealth's failure to provide timber for the future.

Dean Winkenwerder's estimate of the thirty-five years period during which lumbering can continue, should no practical reforestation plan be put into force, is based upon the present rate of green timber consumption.

The Pacific Northwest has become the nation's lumber yard almost overnight, insofar as active logging is concerned. With the Southern pine belt rapidly diminishing in the region of the nation's midriff, lumbermen who have built up huge logging organizations, are flocking to the Pacific Northwest to continue their work of supplying the United States and a good part of the world with building material and raw stuff for furniture.

These companies are causing new towns and cities to spring up overnight. Lumber workers are flocking to the Northwest. The whirr of the band and circle saw has become the industrial anthem of two states. That same whirr is humming the requiem of the forests as the sharp teeth bite into millions of board feet with every eight hour shift.

Ever a migratory sort of person, the lumberman and his logging machinery can still wander at will in Washington and Oregon and apparently never exhaust their vast timber resources, so fondly imagine novices and a great many persons who should know better, yet who cannot seem to see the woods for the trees.

In Washington, and in Oregon also, there are great areas of wonderful timber yet remaining, all merchantable and open for exploitation to the man with the money and the equipment. Companies can move their bases of operations a dozen times yet and at a profit, just as was done in Michigan and in the Southern belt. But during the industrial migration from one timber base to another Washington's timber future will be scattered wantonly along the sawdust trail.

The islands of national forests will of course withstand the tidal wave of timber slaughter for years to come. In Washington and Oregon national forest property includes an area of 23,196,530 acres containing approximately 21,000,000,000 board feet of timber. Where these national forests border on merchantable timber operations, the line of destruction and conservation can easily be traced. Mountains appear as the heads of a file of cropped monks, the shaved pates marking where the lumber razor has swept along the fringe of black where the nationally owned timber still stands. These national forests are kept thinned out by judicious logging, and occasionally tracts of mature timber, ready for the axe, which would deteriorate if allowed to stand, are cut; but Uncle Sam has his eyes on his thickets.

The Washington Legislature particularly, and the Oregon lawmakers to a lesser degree, have done a great deal in recent sessions to recognize and abate the menace, but Dean Winkenwerder and his fellow-reforestationists hold that plans evolved so far have not the wide scope that they should possess, and are urging more energetic measures.

A public school has been established on Hoover's Island, a tiny bit of land in the Susquehanna river below Sunbury, Pa., for the benefit of seven pupils. It is said to be the smallest public school in the state.

Is Seal Beach to be the next oil producing town in the Southland?

Recent indications today were declared to have led Seal Beach people and others to that belief. One producing oil well will prove it, they declared.

Already such signs as were found in Huntington Beach, Signal Hill and Santa Fe Springs before they were developed as oil producing fields, have been found, they claim.

The increased interest in the Seal Beach field was occasioned this week when Dabney No. 1, owned by Henry R. Dabney, a Los Angeles operator, broke through 3100 feet of drilling mud and came in as a gasser. A cap was finally placed over the casing to which was attached a ten-foot flow line and the gas was ignited to prevent further damage. The well is still burning.

Whole City Thrilled
The whole of Seal Beach turned out to watch the gasser, the most thrilling experience the settlement has had in a long time.

Today Seal Beach people, especially those stockholders in the community-owned Seal Beach Oil company, believe the next oil field in this section is located on their property between the Huntington Beach and Signal Hill fields.

Two other wells beside the Dabney well are going down at Seal Beach, according to William Templeman, secretary of the Seal Beach Oil company. These are the Seal Beach company's well No. 1, down 4500 feet and waiting for more drill pipe to come by water from Pittsburgh, and the Shell-Bryant No. 1, which is standing cemented at 4300 feet. Drilling will be resumed in the latter well in about two weeks, Templeman thought.

Three Wells Going Down
The Seal Beach Oil company's well is situated at the intersection of Main street and North avenue, the Dabney well is going down at the intersection of Electric avenue and Tenth street, and the Shell-Bryant company well is situated one-quarter mile north of the Seal Beach Oil company's well.

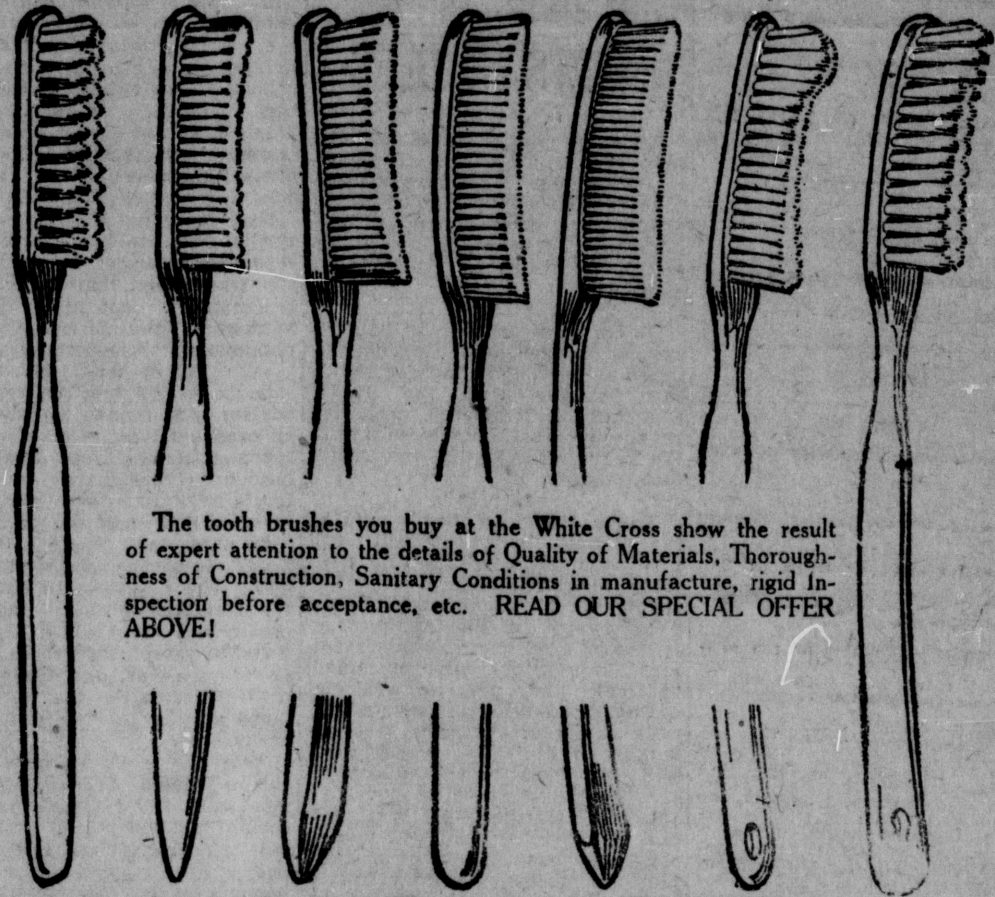

Templeman claims that the brown sand found at Seal Beach is the same kind of sand found in the Shell Oil company's discovery well at Signal Hill and like the Meyers sand found at Santa Fe Springs. Geologists, he says, support his assertion.

Emerald Isle Offers Decorative Scheme For Smart Affair

Ushering in the month of March and the spring season in a delightful manner, Mrs. O. A. Haley and Mrs. G. E. Bruns entertained at a clever St. Patrick's bridge yesterday afternoon at the lovely Haley home on East Washington street.

The decorative motif was established with the reception of the guests for Mrs. Haley was charming in green georgie while Mrs.
Brunns wore white. Canton crepe with green necklaces and ornaments, harmonizing perfectly with the chosen color scheme of green and white.

Daisies massed with ferns, filled ornamental baskets throughout the spacious rooms where fourteen tables were arranged for bridge.
Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Bruns' daughter, Mrs. R. S.
Cribaro and Mrs. Roy Shafer and at the conclusion of the fourth game of bridge the two young matrons tallied the scores and most attractive prize awards were made.

The packages, daintily wrapped and tied in the predominating colors disclosed quaint candlesticks in antique bronze finish, each complete with the necessary candles.
To Mrs. James Harding was given the prize for high score and her gift was the candelabra while single sticks of different design were bestowed upon Mrs. L. T. Clem, scoring second and Mrs. J. H.
Metzgar, holding low score.

The Misses Margaret Haley, young daughter of Mrs. Haley, with two of her school friends,
Miss Marian Pritchard and Miss Doris Hill assisted in serving the delicious two-course refreshment menu at tables spread with dainty luncheon cloths and centered with gay green baskets filled with green and white mints. Salad, ices and cake were all eloquent of the famous holiday of the Emerald Isle.
During the tea hour a charming program of orchestra numbers offered by Hugh Haley, violin, Allen Smith, piano and Harold Bogardus, saxophone, added to the pleasure.

Invited to share the hospitality extended by Mrs. Bruns and Mrs.
Haley were Mesdames Mark Lacy,

Realtors' Wives Meet At James' to Form Active Auxiliary

Planning to promote good fellowship and aid in all civic movements, a new organization composed of wives of Santa Ana realtors and woman members of local and state realty boards, was launched yesterday afternoon at an enthusiastic meeting held in James' gold room with Mrs. W.
E. Salisbury and Mrs. Everett
White as hostesses.

Mrs. Carl Mock presided over the meeting and her executive ability was so pronounced that she seemed the logical choice for the first president when election of officers was held. Mrs. F. C. Pope was named as vice-president, while Mrs. Stanley Goode will act as secretary-treasurer.

The first Thursday of each month was decided upon as the meeting time and many happy affairs are expected to follow. Interesting plans were discussed informally as the members of the new club, to be known as the Realty Board auxiliary, chatted over light refreshments served at the close of the afternoon.

While many more are expected to join the organization and have signified their interest and intention to come in at the next meeting, those present yesterday included Mesdames J. S. Warner, H.
J. Selway, F. C. Pope, J. Wiley
Harris, Vada Pankay, Lillian A.
Harris, John Newcomer, J. E.
Livesey, Sr., D. M. Peters, Carl adding materially to the treasury of orders sponsoring the affair.

De Molay members will meet at 7 p. m. for their stated meeting and at 8:30 the informal reception and discussion will follow. Masonic and Eastern Star chapters are showing their interest by arranging to serve refreshments and make the affair a pleasant one socially.

PNEUMONIA IS FATAL TO NOTED SPORTSMAN

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—Roderick J. Mackenzie, of Toronto, noted Canadian sportsman and railroad magnate, died last night.
He was taken ill with pneumonia three days ago. He arrived in Los Angeles two weeks ago. Mackenzie's father was formerly president of the Canadian Northern railroad.
Mrs. Mackenzie, the widow, sailed down here for New York via Panama a few days ago. Efforts are being made to reach her by radio. The steamer is scheduled to dock at Mazatlan, Mexico, tomorrow. It is expected she will leave the steamer there and return here to take charge of funeral arrangeand the ambition of those in charge of the State School at Whittier is to give the atmosphere of a home to our boys," declared Fred C.

Nellis, head of that school, in an address given before the Junior High P. T. A. last night at the art room of the school.

The occasion was to honor fathers of the organization and announcement that Mr. Nellis was to speak called forth a large crowd, which listened with fascinated attention to his informal talk on conditions confronting him in his chosen work.

That the work calls forth all the enthusiasm of a nature which thoroughly understands boys, no one could doubt after hearing the talk. The establishment of cottage groups over which reign both father and mother, was described, as well as the aim of the present management to create such inclination toward right living in the minds of the boys at the school that their future lives will continue along the paths laid down for them while there.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr.
Nellis was begged to give fifteen minutes more and graciously complied. Later he was besieged with questions all of which he answered, thus bringing out added matters of interest. He was accompanied by five lads from the school, three of whom exemplified various Scout activities. One splendid little lad acted as a keen and active mind but handicapped by being deaf and dumb, hailed with delight the salutation of Professor H. G.
Nelson, given in the sign language, and happy in the companionship of one speaking his own language, enjoyed the evening as much as anyone present.

To add to the program was a vocal group by Miss Edith Cornell with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano. Miss Cornell's lovely voice was heard in "The Old-Fashioned House" and "June." These were followed by a surprise feature when Blythe McCausland in a realistic manner, read "When Pa Is Sick." He was accorded such applause that he returned to give the Reverse side of the picture in
"When Ma Is Sick."

Advertising the opera, "Captain Vanderham," which they will present in the near future, members of the Boys' Glee club added to the entertainment features, as did half a dozen girls in black-face makeup, who advertised the Colored Jubilee Singers to appear under the auspices of Every Girl's club March 9. Miss Edith May Breckinridge, Every Girl's president, gave a pleasing little talk on aims of the organization.

The meeting was ably conducted by Mr. Ben Tarver, in whose honor Mrs. E. B. Snow, president of the P. T. A., resigned for the evening.
Following the program, Mr. Tarver suggested that way be led to the cafeteria where refreshments added to the sociability of the occasion. Mrs. H. H. Ball and Mrs.
E. B. Sprague with appreciated assistance, had charge of that feature of the evening.

Judge Thomas Class

Judge William H. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas proved themselves delightful hosts recently when they entertained members of the famous Judge Thomas class of the First Presbyterian church at an evening combining business and pleasure.
There was a splendid attendance of class members as well as a large guest group to enjoy an interesting program presenting readings, "My Daddy's Tinker Toy" and "When the Smiles Come Out" by Miss Virginia Herschiser; a violin solo by Marion Nau with Miss Mary Roberts at the piano, vocal duet by Mrs. Mann and her daughter, Mrs. Peacock; vocal solos by Mrs. William E. Roberts with her daughter, Miss Mary, playing the accompaniments and an interesting letter telling of Honolulu sights written by the former class president, Mrs. John Winters who with Mrs. Winters is now sojourning in the islands. Mrs. Ward read the letter.

The program was followed by a splendid talk by the host on Hawaii illustrated by over 100 lantern slides which he had taken himself on a trip to the interesting spot.
Later Mrs. Thomas with the aid of the hostess committee of which Mrs. Lindley was chairman, served punch and tea cakes, bringing the evening to a close. The only matter for regret in the entire affair was the absence of the class teacher, J. N. Osborn who with Mrs. Osborn was prevented by illness from being present.

Ebell Travelers

Travel section No. 2 of Ebell society will celebrate St. Patrick's day at the home of Mrs. George Balderston, 221 South Main street, with a 1 o'clock luncheon. Monday, March 5, Mrs. Balderston will be joined by Mrs. Charles Moore and Mrs. George Reyburn in hostess duties.

Relief Corps

Names of a number of new candidates were proposed at yesterday's meeting of the Women's Relief Corps in G. A. R. hall. Many matters arose for discussion, among them the Social club observation of St. Patrick's day, which will be Friday, March 9, at 2 p. m. in G. A. R. hall, when an appropriate program will be given and refreshments served.

Attractive Dinner Given to Honor Angelenans

The presence of Mr. and Mrs.
Martin Hausman of Los Angeles as guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Olivari, 306 Orange avenue, offered incentive for a smart little dinner with which Mr. and Mrs. Olivari last night called together a congenial group of friends.

Attractive table appointments centered around a mass of deep yellow marigolds while candles in attractive holders to harmonize, shed their soft glow on the snowy linen. Not cups and other dainty accessories emphasized the color scheme, and grouped around the hospitable board for the enjoyment of a delicious dinner were
Mr. and Mrs. Olivari, Mr. and Mrs. Hausman, Dr. and Mrs.
Gunning Butler, Mr. and Mrs.
John M. Cloyes, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott and Mr. Eugene Hoff.

During the evening, a radio concert was enjoyed through the medium of a fine receiving set with an amplifier, whose installation gave the men of the party much interest and entertainment.

Business College Folk Revel at County Park

Orange county park was the mecca for a jolly group of students from Orange County Business College who last night laid aside school cares and studies and gathered for the enjoyment of a steak bake.

Music, dancing and games added to the pleasure after the delicious supper was paraken of under the great trees. Swings and "teeters" also held charms for some who preferred them to dancing.

Remarking until the park lights were turned out, some amusing flashlight pictures were taken of the crowd which included the Misses Lillian Fowler, Clara Kellogg, Faye Dooling, Freda Newburg, Lena Chapman, Nora Sanders-field, Jesslyn Langsteth, Frances Donovan, Olga Peltzer, Ella Harket and Mamie Peltzer, and Messrs.
Earl Kennedy, Olin Turner, Lloyd Fowler, Everett Fowler, Louis Walker, and Leonard Peltzer.

Friendly Supper Club In Fanciful Attire Meets for Bridge

Members of a little supper club in the vicinity of Tustin were pleasantly entertained last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A.
Vance, where they responded to a suggestion from the hostess, by appearing in fanciful garb ranging from that of school lads and lasses to the formal dress of our great grandparents.

Mrs. Vance used an attractive color harmony of yellow in table decorations with a mass of yellow blossoms centering the board and attractive accessories of nut cups and place cards to correspond.

Following their enjoyment of the appealing supper, the guests played bridge with Mrs. H. T.
Duckett and Mr. Wyckoff Hoxie carrying off honors and receiving attractive prizes.

Enjoying the affair were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Vance, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferry, Mr. and Mrs.
Carl Newman, Mr. and Mrs. H.
T. Duckett and Mr. and Mrs.
Wyckoff Hoxie.

S. A. Women's Club

On account of illness in the home, the regular program of the Santa Ana Woman's club announced to be given by Mrs. P. L.
Tope, has been postponed and in its place another program has been arranged to be given at the meeting to be held Tuesday, March 6 with Mrs. W. E. Talbot, 526
South Broadway.

Dr. Jessica F. Raiche of Anaheim, chairman of public health and special welfare committee will be one of the speakers as will Dr.
Evalene Peo, president of the Woman's club. Dr. Peo has announced her topic as "Conservation of Human Life and Child Welfare Work."

The program will begin at the usual hour, 2:30 p. m.

Tustin Literature

The Tustin Literature section of Ebell will meet Tuesday, March 6, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. W. L. Leiby, Tustin.

New Offerings in the Spring Vogues! Coats, Suits and Dresses

Whether it be bouffant frock, tailored suit, or luxurious wrap, one is surprised by the wealth of delightfully novel and irresistible details. A Bolivia Coat has big flowing sleeves, gorgeous embroidered.

A taffeta frock has a corsage of bright flowers and there are clinging canton Gowns, trimmed with sparkling beads and colorful embroidery. And silk dresses with blouse or sleeves of Oriental Egyptian printed silks.

Tut-Anek-Amen Silks

Fashion creators were tired of the common-place and ordinary styles—they wanted something "different" so they had to go back about 3500 years to the days of King Tut-Anek-Amen whose resting place has just been excavated and has revealed new inspirations in designs which are being developed into the new silks for spring. Our silk section is a radiant picture of the wizardry silk artists have wrought for your wearing. A visit will be valuable to every woman. Its beauty is ravishing. Its fashion help incalculable.

Market Lacking In Technical Faults as Industrial Shares Gain

NEW YORK, March 2.—Today's stock session was the most perfect in many months. With the industrial average in new high ground and the volume holding well above the million share rate, the market showed relatively few traces of technical faults.

Steel Common resumed its rightful place at the head of the forward movement in the general list and the advance proceeded in healthy fashion.

No indications were in evidence of the speculative excesses which characterized the boom in industrial stock last spring and again last fall.

The market closed higher. U. S. Steel 108 5/8 up 1 1/2; Republic Iron and Steel 61 1/4 up 1 1/2; Bethlehem 70 1/8 up 3 1/2; Baldwin 139 1/8 up 7 1/2; American Locomotive 126 1/2 up 1 1/2; Calif. GRAIN PRICES DROP UNDER HEAVY SALES

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, March 2.—All grains closed lower on the Chicago board of trade today due to heavy selling which developed late in the day. A statement issued by officials of the Armour Grain company that there will be a large carry over of last year's grain crop, caused the decline in wheat. The statement said the United States must export about 50,000,000 bushels of wheat by July 1, and Canada approximately 150,000,000. Due to Argentine surplus and the foreign situation the statement said, this looked impossible. Export trade was at a standstill.

Corn was extremely dull with no export trade reported. The late Argentine corn crop surplus was practically exhausted and exports will be confined to the new crop available in about six weeks. A decrease in the world's available supply of corn over last year was reported. Receipts were moderate.

Wheat declined in sympathy with other grains. There was a lack of both domestic and foreign demand. Provisions closed higher due to heavy buying for export and higher hog markets.

TAX LOSS SEEN AS COLLECTOR LOSES AIDS

Handicapped by reason of a recent decision of the supreme court, with but five deputies where last year he had fourteen, County Assessor James Sleeper is awaiting the arrival of 12 o'clock noon next Monday, March 5, for the beginning of the 1923 assessment for Orange county.

"We will get through the best we can," said Sleeper today. "We will make the assessment just as equitable as possible. The county's great loss by reason of the fact that the office is short of help will be in the collection of unsecured personal property taxes.

"This tax is collectable at the time the assessment is made. Everything that was on the rolls last year can be looked after, but accumulations of personal property will be overlooked everywhere. It can't be helped. We had all we could do when I had fourteen field deputies.

"The five field deputies will have to devote their entire attention to checking up in cities, seeing that new houses and business buildings are included in the 1923 rolls.

"I have no men to send out over the county for detailed surveys. Of course, we will get a good deal that I and my deputies know about by reason of general knowledge, but aside from that we have no means of getting on to our books the personal property acquired by property owners who do not have their property in our larger communities.

"For that reason, I am calling on property owners who do not live in the larger communities to furnish me with statements showing the personal property they have acquired since last year or personal property that may inadvertently have been left off of last year's statement."

Sleeper said that he could not say how much money the county would lose in personal property taxes by reason of the fact that he has insufficient field help. It might be $15,000 or it might be $25,000.

Sleeper said that there is a case from Alameda county now in the courts. If the decision in this case is favorable, he may get additional field and office help during this assessment season. If it is unfavorable, the condition now existing will continue possibly for four years, growing more aggravated each year.

TO WHIP GRAIN 'CHANGE PLAN INTO SHAPE

Orange county officers of the newly formed five Southern counties grain exchange will travel to Riverside tomorrow to meet with officers representing the other four counties of the exchange to conclude organization formalities, R. D. Flaherty, manager of the exchange, announced here today.

John Osterman was elected president of the exchange; M. C. Kelly of Riverside, secretary, and Flaherty was chosen manager at the five-counties meeting held here last Saturday. Directors were named. Those counties not represented on the board will be selected at tomorrow's meeting, Flaherty said.

Affiliated With Cal. Body
The exchange, formed of the five counties, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego and Orange, for the expressed purpose of orderly marketing of Southern California grain grown by the member counties, is affiliated with the California Farm Bureau exchange, which it was announced would have a $4,000,000 turn-over this year. T. E. Morgan, with headquarters at San Francisco, is general manager of the State exchange.

Flaherty has been credited with considerable experience in co-operative marketing, having served as manager of marketing organizations in north-Pacific states.

His duties as manager of the new exchange make it necessary for him to transfer his residence from here to Riverside, which has been named as headquarters of the exchange, he said.

To Quik as Editor
Flaherty was waiting today, he said, for a release from the contract with the Orange county farm bureau as editor of the bureau's publication, The Farm Bureau News.

Edwin F. Whedon, secretary-manager of the bureau, it was understood, was spoken of as the logical successor to Flaherty in the editorial position.

Definite decision, however, was not made by the bureau board of directors at yesterday's meeting. The matter was put into committee for later report and action, it was learned.

QUASH CASE AGAINST YOUTH IN GIRL CASE

Serious charges against William Wilson, Orange youth, for which he twice stood trial, were today dismissed on motion of District Attorney A. P. Nelson.

Wilson was arrested following an alleged attack by him on a 17-year-old girl at a dance at Olive. At his first trial a jury disagreed, standing, it was reported, eight to four for acquittal. Last Wednesday a second jury disagreed, nine to three for acquittal.

Today's dismissal was "in the furtherance of justice," Nelson announced.

GIRL CASE MAN WEEPS AS ILL MOTHER NAMED

While the defendant wept at the mention of his sick mother, who is in Illinois, Superior Judge Z. B. West today denied the probation plea of A. J. Ahlers, convicted of a serious offense against a 17-year-old girl.

Ahlers was arrested on complaint of the girl's father. Entering a plea of not guilty, he was found guilty by a jury.

When the court denied the probation plea, Attorney S. B. Kauf entered a motion for a new trial on numerous grounds, which included eight alleged errors of the court.

Hearing on this motion was continued one week.

T. R., LINCOLN SKETCHED FOR TEACHERS

Few men, according to Santa Ana teachers here today, have a better grasp on their subject than J. H. McClaren, of Pasadena, who gave impersonations and intimate sketches of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt at the City Teachers' Institute here yesterday afternoon.

McClaren, who has made a close study of these great Americans, delighted the assembled teachers with his character delineations.

Superintendent J. A. Cranston, addressing the institute, stressed the need for physical education for teachers.

"You have the mental equipment," said Cranston, "and you are doing splendid work, for yourselves and others, but you must not neglect physical education for yourselves. Teachers, as well as pupils, should keep in fine physical condition."

Community singing was led by Miss Margaret Wickes and Harry Garstang.

BEACH ORATORS GET DECISION OF JUDGES

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 2.—Huntington Beach union high school debaters this morning defeated, by a two to one decision of the judges, the Fullerton union high school representatives on the question "Resolved, that the United States Should Recognize the Present Government of Mexico."

The local speakers were Irene Crilley and Raymond Vanduff. Fullerton was represented by Lillian Trowbridge and Hazel Berkey. The debate was fairly close, the argument centering mainly around the interpretation of article 27 of the Mexican constitution which covers the question of American property rights in Mexico.

The local high school baseball team is playing the team from Whittier state school here this afternoon.

SON OF S. A. FOLK HURT IN OIL FIELD

A telegram, telling them that their son, H. R. Riggs, an oil worker, was in the Seaside hospital, Long Beach, in a serious condition as the result of a fall of eighty-five feet from a derrick, was received last night by Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Riggs, 810 East Second street, Santa Ana.

Riggs, aged 30, was working on the derrick of the Kent-Garrett No. 1 well, at Long Beach, when he fell. In falling he struck a platform and from that fell on to a pile of pipe.

A telephone message received this morning stated that Riggs had several broken ribs and a severe injury to his head. Yesterday's report was that he could not live. The report this morning was that his condition is more favorable, but critical.

STATE OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON HIGHWAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Members of the state highway commission of California, Governor J. G. Scruggs of Nevada and possibly Governor Charles R. Mabey of Utah, will confer at Reno next week on matters affecting the Victory and Lincoln highways running through the three states to be represented. The California commissioners leave here Monday for Reno and will inspect the Truckee river highway route.

The result of a vote taken among the students of one of the largest universities in the United States shows that the average college student spends approximately $66 per month for expenses. This amount is exclusive of tuition and textbooks.

50 ARE NAMED POLY ORATORS AS $200,000 WILL FILED ROUT FOES IN BIG DEBATE

An estate of $200,000 was divided between approximately fifty devisees, according to the will of the late John Drury Lavin, Anaheim, filed with a petition for probate by Mrs. Anna L. Markham, St. Louis, William A. Dolan and William J. Seiman, Anaheim.

The estate consisted of $10,000 in real property, notes and securities for $150,000 and other properties.

Lavin was a bachelor, he stated in the will. He provided for relatives and made donations to Catholic churches and benevolent institutions throughout the United States, in what was probably one of the longest wills on record.

In the will he requested that his body be interred in the Assumption cemetery, Sandwich, Ontario, Canada.

Josephine Rodriguez and John Donnan, Santa Ana high school debaters, offered convincing arguments today as to why the United States should recognize the Mexican government, and in so doing won honors by a score of 3 to 0 over their competitors, Portia Friedenbloom and Cecil Cox of the Orange union high school, according to decision of the referees.

"We must recognize Mexico before we can expect co-operation in the protection of American citizens living within the boundaries of the sister republic," declared Donnan and Miss Rodriguez.

Cite Crime Conditions.
"We must recognize Mexico before we can expect full co-operation from the Mexican government in extradition of criminals seeking to elude American authorities by escaping across the border."

"We should," they declared, following out their line of reasoning, "recognize Mexico politically, socially, financially and industrially."

Refuting arguments of the Orange debaters that Mexico was undeserving of recognition by the United States, the Santa Anans made the statement that "the United States was spending four times as much money for the upkeep of its army as for the promotion of education, whereas Mexico was expending three times as much for schools as compared with its appropriation for military purposes."

Hammer and Tongs.
"Mexican legislative sessions have been disorderly," declared the opposition.

"Records show that the United States congressional sessions have been disorderly, and there have been authentic reports of free-for-all fights," replied the proponents of the resolution on which the debate was based.

Santa Ana challenged Orange to disclose what benefits would be derived by the United States from non-recognition of the Mexican government, and failing to get a resolution, issued a second challenge that the Orange debaters show what harm would come to the United States through its recognition of Mexico. Orange failed to answer the second challenge.

Santa Ana's victory was declared overwhelming.

FIRE FIGHTERS NEED MODERN ALARM PLANT SAYS CHIEF

Speed of Department Crew Of No Avail If System Fails, Is Claim

CITES RECENT CASE

Mechanical Signal Device Used and Men On Job In Trice, Is Explained

What a complete fire alarm system means to Santa Ana was explained by Fire Chief John Luxembourger today, using a recent blaze at the rear of the Roth Hardware store as an illustration.

"Speed, speed, and more speed is demanded of the fire department," declared Chief Luxembourger. "We spend hours here in the firehouse devising new ways of eliminating seconds in getting equipment out and headed for the scene of a fire."

"What good comes of that speed, if the alarm is delayed by an inefficient fire alarm system? When the alarm reaches the firehouse, we get out without delay, but if it took one minute or three minutes or more to send in the alarm, no enginehouse speed can overcome that loss of time."

Gives Recent Instance.
"Take the case of the Roth Hardware store fire. A police officer turned in the alarm through a regular fire alarm box. All he had to do was pull down the lever. The rest was mechanical—the instant connection with the enginehouse; the registering of the alarm box number. A chart in the enginehouse told where the box was located. There was no chance of delay. The equipment was dispatched in minimum time."

"The result shows in the report of damage done by fire at the Roth store. Though the stockroom was loaded with paint, kerosene and other inflammable materials, the fire was extinguished with a loss of only about $1,000."

Delay Fatal.
"Had there been delay, that fire might have gotten beyond immediate control. It threatened the entire business block."

"Imagine that alarm being turned in by telephone. The person reporting gets excited. He can't enunciate his words clearly. It is a well known fact that fear or excitement tighten the cords of the throat and prevent free, coherent speech."

"The enginehouse man, with his

MISSION TOWN HISTORY PLAN OF STUDENTS

San Juan Capistrano High School Folk to Delve Into Long Ago

Delving into events of long ago, students of San Juan Capistrano high school are preparing to write a history of that picturesque town, it was learned here today.

This decision on the part of the students of a modern high school in the oldest community in Orange county is declared by officers of the Orange County Historical society to be another instance of an aroused interest in the history of the county.

For three-quarters of a century after the exploration of California by the Spaniards in 1769, San Juan Capistrano was the only village within what is now Orange county.

Small Communities Grew Up True. It was pointed out today by a member of the Historical society discussing the subject, small communities grew up on some of the big ranches in the county. There were a few adobes at Olive, and there was a small principality at Yorba, where Bernardo Yorba's home was situated, but not until Anaheim was established in the late 50's was there a second village in the county.

The recent publication of a history of the San Juan Capistrano mission, written by Father Engelhart, the Catholic historian, of Santa Barbara, served to arouse an interest in San Juan Capistrano in the history of the mission valley.

Egan Death Is Factor
The death of Richard Egan, whose home was at San Juan Capistrano from 1867 to the time of his death, has further increased the interest of the students of the mission valley high school in the writing of a comprehensive history.

It is proposed to incorporate in the work chapters dealing with the lives of men who had a large part in the history of the valley. Among the men whose biographies will be written are Don Juan Forster, the English sea captain, who married the sister of Pio Pico, the last of the Mexican governors of California, Don Marcos Forster, his son, and Richard Egan.

Juan Forster moved to San Juan Capistrano in the early 40's.

ROLING GIVES DOGS FREEDOM IF TREATED

Certificate and Tag Will Be Issued to Owners of Immunized Animals

As pleasant news to owners of valuable dogs, came the announcement today by County Health Officer Leland Mitchell, M. D., that all dogs, properly immunized, may hereafter run at large.

The announcement was in accordance with word from the state board of health, which was responsible for the quarantine which has prohibited dogs from running at large, and from being transported from place to place.

Issue Certificate.
"Dogs may be vaccinated with an anti-rabic serum, by any authorized veterinarian or physician," Dr. Mitchell stated. "The physician or veterinarian will issue a certificate, good for one year, and a tag to be attached to the dog's collar."

Owners of valuable dogs may have them treated in this manner, and may then allow them to run about."

Immune for Year.
The anti-rabic serum renders a dog immune to rabies for one year, it was stated. Dogs which have not been vaccinated, will be shot if found off their owner's premises, as heretofore, it was learned.

The ruling of the state board is in accordance with an ordinance which District Attorney A. P. Nelson asked the board of supervisors here to pass recently.

At that time, although the supervisors favored the immunization idea, they expressed the opinion that the matter should be left to the owners.

SUMMER SESSION PLAN ANNOUNCED

So widely and favorably known has become the University of California summer session in Los Angeles that inquiries concerning the summer courses are already beginning to pour into the headquarters, 815 Junior Orpheum building, from practically every state in the Union.

Last year the summer session drew a surprisingly large percentage of its students from the eastern and middle-western states, but indications are that the enrollment from other states will be even greater this summer.

The summer session of the State University is scheduled to open here June 30, and it is especially noteworthy that applications throughout the entire country are being made four months before the opening date. It is also a tribute to the reputation of the university that in one day applications were received from nearly a dozen different states.

In 1922 the student registration included 43 students from Texas, 44 from Missouri, 34 from Colorado, 92 from Arizona, 4 from Alabama, 30 from New Mexico, 17 from Illinois and a corresponding number from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, while the Western states sent proportionately greater numbers. There was a large number from foreign countries also.

This year the interest in the state university summer session is so pronounced that in a conservative estimate the enrollment is expected to exceed 3000 students.

The summer session welcomes two classes of members; Students who expect to participate in all the work of the courses, and auditors who attend lectures but do not take part in recitations.

The same conditions of admission and attendance obtain in the university sessions in Los Angeles as at Berkeley. No formal examinations are required; admission is granted to high school graduates and to all adults of sufficient maturity and understanding to profit by the exercises and lectures of the summer session.

The bulletin of the state university summer sessions, containing full information concerning the courses to be given, are available at the headquarters, 815 Junior Orpheum building, Los Angeles.

The claim of being typically American is advanced by Karle's admirers because, American-born (in Olympia, Wash.), he received his training under American teachers and while scoring a success in grand opera, notably "Faust" and "Carmen" he prefers to sing strictly American songs on American concert tours.

That does not mean, however, that Karle excludes the music of other countries from his programs for his repertoire is most extensive and includes the best of French, German and Italian composers.

Local interest in his appearance here was evidenced by the very flattering early seat sales for the

Hope to Ship Approximately 200 Cars Valencia from 500 Acres

Headed by C. V. Newman, as president, with Ray Lambert, as vice president, and J. H. Bray, as secretary, the Frances Citrus association, which, according to its articles of incorporation, has a capital stock of $50,000, today was making plans to take a leading part in Valencia shipments this season.

This organization, according to President Newman and his associates, has purchased the holdings of the San Joaquin Fruit company, comprised of James Irvine, Sherman Stevens and C. E. Utt, and will make every effort to maintain the high standard set by the leading brands of the old company.

Directors of the new citrus organization include beside Newman, Lambert and Bray, Alfred Leech, Albert Rohrs, H. J. Seba and George C. Welton.

Leech is treasurer. "It will be the aim of the new association," said President Newman, discussing plans of the leaders in the movement, "to maintain and perpetuate the registered brands made famous by the San Joaquin Fruit company."

"It has been shown that these oranges, the finest grown in the Southland, command the very highest prices on the markets of the East. We will pick and pack, as before, keeping uppermost in our minds the thought that we must never allow the standard to be lowered. This means that we must give the best possible attention to our orchards."

"With about 500 acres in oranges, we hope to be able to ship something like 200 cars of Valencia this season."

"Last year, about 210 cars, or

Royal Breezes

The ROYAL doesn't give up

Year after year the ROYAL Electric Cleaner sticks to its job, cleaning the house from cellar to garret, doing it more thoroughly and better and quicker than old housekeeping methods would ever allow. The ROYAL is not an I. W. W. It knows what work it was cut out for, and it does this work with smiling heart.

It doesn't give up, it lasts a lifetime. If you buy a ROYAL Electric Cleaner, you'll be able to hand it down to your daughter some day. And it will still be hitting on every revolution of the suction-fan.

The ROYAL is the "Air-A-Long" cleaner, it gets out ALL the dirt—not just the surface dirt—with its powerful "draw." Yet it is so gentle that the sheerest draperies may be cleaned with it.

You want a ROYAL Electric Cleaner for the same reason that you want the best of everything else.

The nearest ROYAL Man will courteously demonstrate why and how the ROYAL is the best.

An informal reception will follow the recital tonight and those who have learned to admire the beautiful voice of the distinguished young tenor through his phonograph records, are cordially invited to greet him upon the stage of the high school auditorium.

The program is scheduled to begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

BOYS' BAND AT WHITTIER IN FUND QUEST

The boys of the Whittier State School hope to have a band again soon.

Two years and a half ago the school had a complete and well organized band recognized as one of the leading boy-bands of this section of the state. But in October, 1920, a fire destroyed the building in which the musical equipment was stored, consuming the entire outfit. Since that time the boys have been without the means for replacing this loss.

"Recognizing the place that music has in the make-up of every individual and the great opportunity which a band affords both for the training and self-expression of the boys themselves and for the boys to give pleasure to others through their playing, a movement has been started during the present winter season to replace the equipment," said a statement received here today from Karl M. Cowdery, assistant superintendent of the school. "No state funds have become available for this important activity."

To Be Scout Band.

"In working on plans of eligibility for boys who wished to become part of the new band, the school has outlined qualifications which demand, in the first place, that a boy must show indication of the necessary musical ability. He must also fully qualify as a Boy Scout of America. When completed this will constitute a Boy Scout band."

"Several friends of the boys of the school have already demonstrated their interest in the project by contributing checks of various denominations which have been the foundation upon which to build. Others have donated salable articles as their share in the movement."

"A music company of Los Angeles made a favorable offer whereby the school might obtain at an unusually reasonable price a nearly complete equipment of instruments."

"But the donations had not been sufficient to make the necessary payments to insure receiving the outfit."

Quick Action Needed

"In order to take advantage of the fine offer of the music company quick action had to be taken. To raise the necessary payment the school accepted an offer which the boys made. This was that they were to loan funds on the understanding that by the time each one leaves the school his money will be available to him. Unknown to the boys, members of the office force have guaranteed the return of their money by the time they leave."

The suggestion is made that interested persons assist in the raising of this worthy fund; for which approximately $800 is still needed, either by general donation of cash or salable articles to the Band Fund, Whittier State School, Whittier, Calif., or by specific refunding of one of those accounts of boys who have loaned their money in order to boost the movement for the benefit of other boys in the school.

"The following are the names and amounts of money advanced: Ed. McCarty, $175; Robert Pullen, $24; Cecil Vincent, $17; Joe Gietto, $14; Peter Barone, $10; Carlos Hedley, $9.50; Ernest Smith, $9.50; Edmund Peidmont, $8; Arthur Richardson, $8; Norbert Dittmar, $7; David Furtado, $5; Lyle Morgan, $5; Royce Van Dewalker, $5; Melray Morris, $4.50; Nash Soto, $4; Lawrence Morgan, $3.50."

PLAN MEET TO LAUNCH BIBLE SCHOOL HERE

Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

Under plans discussed at a recent meeting of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, a committee, headed by the Rev. Mr. Porter, will co-operate with the various superintendents in connection with two classes, one to be known as the beginners' class, and the other as the intermediate class. Serving with the Rev. Mr. Porter on this committee are the Rev. Moffett Rhodes and the Rev. Perry F. Schrock.

"Nothing definite has been done," said the Rev. Mr. Porter, "but I hope to get this committee together possibly next Tuesday. At that time we hope to have representatives from virtually all the Sunday schools present. Plans will then be launched for the community vacation bible schools for the coming summer."

The Panaman Students' association of Georgetown university has announced that a scholarship will be available in the School of Foreign Service to a student from each of the twenty Latin-American republics next fall.

LIMA MOVEMENT SATISFACTORY TO GROWERS

amount of the 1922 crop, only about sixteen per cent of the regular limas, and 12 per cent of the baby limas remain for sale and shipment from California.

"The apparent statistical strength of the lima and baby bean market situation and confidence in it can be readily seen in the maintained firmness of prices during the latter part of February, in the face of comparatively light buying orders, and the certainty that a tax assessment of several cents per bag would be levied upon stocks remaining in California storage on March 1.

Heavy December Movement

"It is true that sales and orders have been relatively light during February. This apparently was due to the fact that quite heavy shipments were made to interior markets during December, and very free shipments to seaboard markets the latter part of January and through February, with the result that virtually all markets were temporarily supplied."

"Naturally, with present coast rail price of $8.90 for choice, re-cleaned limas and about $10.90 for baby limas, the jobbing trade feel there is no longer any special incentive to buy with hope of obtaining speculative profits, and are accordingly confining themselves to light stocks for their short term requirements."

"In fact, some are reselling a portion of their stocks, purchased two or three months ago, at lower prices, and these resales are at the moment a disturbing factor in some markets, but it is thought this will not long continue."

Payments This Month

AUTO CRASH FATAL

HANFORD, Calif., March 2. — Russell Blowers, 19 year old Hardwick lad who was injured in an automobile crash late Wednesday night near Lemore, died at the Lemore sanitarium shortly before midnight last night. The machine in which Blowers and two others were riding was thrown into a ditch when it struck a stray dog.

when the next payment to growers can be made, but it seems reasonably certain that between the 15th and 20th of March, it will be possible to make a payment of 1 cent per pound upon re-cleaned weights of regular limas and one-half cent per pound upon baby limas.

"This will bring the total payments on both limas and baby limas up to 5 1/2 cents per pound this season. Similar payments were not made until after the middle of April last year."

"As the total volume of sales during the month of February was small, the time of payments subsequent to the March payment above mentioned will necessarily depend mostly upon the time and the volume of future sales."

ear glued to the telephone, wonders whether the report of the fire is on Birch or Bush street, or some other like-sounding street name.

"Drivers stand impatiently by their engines. Everyone in the firehouse is ready and waiting for the word that tells the location of the fire."

"But every second of waiting represents dollars being burned, and other dollars threatened by the fire."

The telephone cannot be used as an efficient fire alarm system.

"A proper, up-to-date, fool-proof box alarm system would soon save Santa Ana its cost of installation by reduction in fire insurance rates, and in property saved by quicker arrival of the fire department at fires."

NEW CITY HALL AT BEACH IS NEARLY DONE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 2.—A committee of councilmen went to Los Angeles Monday to secure the electrical fixtures for the new city hall which, it is now believed, can be occupied early in April. Among them were Mayor Drew, Will P. Wright, R. L. O'Barr. Twenty-five new electric street lights are assembled in the yard of the city hall building, ready for distribution. These will do much to relieve the darkness on many street corners. L. F. Gates, city clerk, promises.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Gates attended the banquet of the American Association of Engineers of Long Beach and Los Angeles at the Little theater cafe, Los Angeles, last Wednesday evening. Mr. Gates is a certified member of this organization.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, of Orange, a cousin of Frances Willard, presented the children of the grammar school with a picture of the temperance leader under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., Monday morning at the general assembly of all upper grades. Reviewing the life of Frances Willard, Mrs. Mills urged that each child read the copy of her life which is to be placed in the school library. Temperance, not only in strong drinks, but in all phases of life, was the motto of Miss Willard's work. Mrs. Mills explained, and urged that all the children should benefit by the motto. Mrs. M. Clark, of the local W. C. T. U., introduced the speaker.

The Domestic Art club, a domestic "circle" limited to 12 members, spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Edgar Edwards of Santa Ana. They took with them the dolls which they have recently completed from old stockings for the children of the County hospital. Among the new members recently voted into this exclusive "home makers" association are Mrs. Clark Reid, wife of Clark H. Reid, principal of the grammar school, and herself a teacher in the school, and Mrs. L. E. Hendrickson, 406 Ninth street.

An important business meeting of the American Legion is being planned for this evening.

MEXICAN CONSUL TO TALK AT FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL

FULLERTON, March 2.—L. Garba Leal, Mexican consul in Los Angeles, will deliver a series of eight lectures in the choral hall of the Fullerton Union high school. These lectures deal with the geography, history, business and social conditions, arts and crafts of Mexico. Mr. Leal is a pleasing speaker, greatly interested in the problems of Mexican labor. His lectures have proved most helpful to the business men, teachers and social workers who have heard him in Long Beach and Los Angeles.

For the general public these lectures are free. A fee will be charged those desiring university credits. The first lecture was held last Saturday and one will follow each Saturday at 4 o'clock.

EQUIPMENT FOR PLAYGROUND IS BOUGHT

SEAL BEACH, March 2.—The school board has ordered some attractive new equipment for the school yard, including stationary swinging travel rings, a revolving ball bearing swing and a rock-a-bye swing, especially designed for the primary children.

Next Tuesday night, March 6, the P. T. A. will give another "Road Show" at the Jewel theater.

Finley and Snow, retiring grocers, will open a real estate office in the Stevens building in Main street. E. B. Brown will be the local agent handling after rentals while the members of the firm handle old land leases, etc.

The presence of mind and self control of the interested parties averted a tragedy on the trestle between Naples and Seal Beach on Sunday evening when a father and mother and two little children were caught midway by the 5:30 Pacific Electric. The car was brought under control in time to allow the near-victims to be lifted safely from their precarious position on the ties.

The card party recently held at the home of Mrs. Sheran proved so popular that another was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loftus on Dolphin avenue Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the Altar society and a pleasant evening enjoyed by all present.

Father Fleming came down for a glimpse of his old friends on Monday and found a royal welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stevens have returned from Madera where funeral services for their little daughter Edna were held.

Mrs. F. H. Hodges is visiting her son here this week. Mrs. Hodges comes from Hemet.

Miss Ada Vencil, who has spent some time with her aunt, Mrs. Minnie Michael, in Visalia, is home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Brooks and three months old daughter Marilyn are making the first visit to their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks, who live in Maricopa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Briggs and family moved this week to Sunset Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst and grandchildren of Long Beach have taken the apartment lately occupied by the Marshall Furniture store on Electric. Houses are at a premium here and that was the only available place. Mr. Parkhurst is with Gregory-Allen.

Mrs. V. J. Lawson of Los Angeles was a guest for a week of her daughter, Mrs. French, on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Burdock and children have moved to their new home near Los Angeles.

Word has been received from the Whittington family that they are homelick for Seal Beach and may return before long.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith were so successful on a late fishing trip that they have been sharing the spoils with their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spooner, of San Luis Obispo, have written they expect to leave for Seal Beach about March 10. Mrs. Spooner and Mrs. Stirling of Seal Beach are sisters and will enjoy the reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who came to California from Canada, have taken a room with the Hayes family on Seventh. They find the climate here a continual surprise, and enjoy the balmy days of mid winter more than the rigors of their own home.

Mrs. Davis came down from Los Angeles on Sunday for a few hours. She reports her son, Ashton, is not gaining as they had hoped he might. He has been confined to his bed for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Newfield and children left Tuesday for San Bernardino. Miss Elizabeth will go with them to their new home where it is hoped the higher altitude will benefit Mr. Newfield's health.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McClelland and sons Joe and Elbert and a sister of Mrs. McClelland's from Missouri were down on Sunday for a visit and glimpse of the Pacific.

CITY TRUSTEES CANVASS VOTE ON BONDS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 2.—The city board of trustees, at their meeting this week reviewed the vote at Tuesday's election and passed a resolution to the effect that the bond issue of $300,000 was carried by forty-seven votes. An ordinance was read providing for issuance of the bonds at par of $1,000 each to pay for the paving. The trustees met at the city hall. A large delegation of citizens was present. C. H. Harter presented a proposition to print 10,000 folders advertising Huntington Beach, which was accepted. Foster and Keiser were granted permission to erect a billboard at corner of Eleventh and Main streets.

The city attorney was instructed to prepare a zoning ordinance regulating the building of houses in the city. The ordinance establishing grades on Ocean avenue was given its second reading and passed.

The Lions club luncheon was in charge of S. H. White and Al Onsen. E. F. McDonough, who is conducting a membership campaign for the Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker of the occasion and gave an interesting booster talk for the club. The Lions' orchestra played several selections. The Lions will attend the Community Bible class at the Princess theater Sunday morning.

FUNERAL AT ORANGE

ORANGE, March 2.—Funeral services were conducted here this afternoon for Arthur Dittmer, Concordia college student, who died at Oakland, Sunday, following a brief illness. Rev. N. F. HUNTINGTON JUSTICE RECOVERS FROM LONG SIEGE OF INFLUENZA

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 2.—Judge A. W. Warner, local justice of the peace, is just recovering from a two weeks' attack of influenza. During his illness there was no business transacted in his court.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Bennie of Fourteenth street, spent Sunday at Eagle Rock with friends.

Lester Reynolds of Santa Maria, is the week house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jo Proctor and daughter, Bertha. A wedding of girlhood friends called Mr. and Mrs. John Webster to Hermosa Beach last week. They spent Sunday with Mrs. Webster's mother, Mrs. M. L. Hubbard, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. Reynolds, teacher of the fourth grade in the grammar school, underwent a major operation at the Clara Barton hospital in Los Angeles Saturday.

DANCING CAUSES FULLERTON ROW AT SCHOOL

FULLERTON, March 2.—Considerable regret has been expressed by local people over the fact that the school trustees of the Fullerton union high school have seen fit to prohibit certain seniors, who attended a dance at Camp Baldy, from attending graduation exercises and social functions in connection with them.

Further developments in the matter are said to be expected. It appears that sometime ago a number of high school students, claimed to have been properly chaperoned, went to Camp Baldy for an outing. While there dancing was indulged in, the news of which was carried to the ears of the school board. The ruling followed.

ZONING LAW IN FULLERTON IS HELD DISTANT

FULLERTON, March 2.—It will be sixty or ninety days before this city can reap the benefits of the zoning system for building, it was indicated last night at the meeting of the committee of 25, authorized to draw up the zoning regulations, in the city hall.

It was decided that sectional meetings of property owners be held and the wishes of the people in regard to the matter learned. The committee will meet again Saturday night. A number of local people attended and presented their views on the matter.

The following are the names of the committee:

Albert Lauer, chairman; city, Fred Hezmalhalch, W. C. Record; Chamber of Commerce, Waldo O. Kelly, G. A. Raymer, W. J. How to Be Free of Cold All Winter

A Timely Warning!

Every one knows that even the slightest cold, if not taken in time or neglected, often develops into a serious ailment.

Don't neglect them, they are dangerous. At the first sign of a chill, or sneezing, start taking Hyland's 14—a mild, safe remedy that is different from other cold remedies. It does not contain any drug that is habit-forming or depresses the heart. It gives results at once, yet is perfectly safe even for children, as it contains no quinine, no aspirin, no acetanilid.

Carry a package in your pocket or handbag to keep yourself in good condition. Hyland's 14 is on sale at all druggists. C. S. Kelley Drug Store, corner 4th and Main streets.—Adv.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The department of justice is staggering under a constantly increasing burden of prosecutions to enforce the national prohibition law and the cost of enforcement is actually more than 50 per cent greater than has been represented, according to testimony before the house committee on appropriations which was made public here.

Some of the more interesting facts brought to light by the hearings were:

Forty-four per cent of the time of the federal district attorneys throughout the United States is taken up by prohibition cases.

Out of 70 thousand civilian criminal cases commenced by the department of justice during the last fiscal year, 37,141 were for violation of the prohibition law.

The department of justice estimates that the number of prohibition cases of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, will total 50 thousand.

Courts Congested

Prohibition cases not disposed of are gaining on the department at the rate of at least seven thousand a year, presenting a prospect of unprecedented congestion in the courts, notwithstanding the recent enlargement of the federal judiciary.

Lars which congress is appropriating annually for the prohibition commissioner's office, approximately five million dollars is expended by the department of justice in its efforts to enforce the prohibition law, making a total outlay of 14 million dollars annually for prohibition enforcement.

Despite the energy and money expended by the department of justice in prosecuting prohibition violators, the fines collected dropped from $2,418,000 in 1921 to $2,377,000 in 1922.

Officials of the department of justice appeared before the committee asking a deficiency appropriation of 475 thousand dollars for salaries, fees and expenses of United States marshals.

Reports Heard

At the request of Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, they presented a report compiled from the answers of all the district attorneys to an inquiry as to the percentage of their time they had to devote to liquor.

The percentages ranged from 5 per cent for the district attorney in Kansas to 90 per cent for the district attorney of the southern district of Alabama, where a state prohibition law was passed years before the Volstead act.

In the southern district of Illinois the district attorney reported that he had spent 90 per cent of his time trying to enforce prohibition. The district attorneys of the northern and eastern districts each reported that they gave 50 per cent of their time to prohibition cases.

Representative Gallipis, Democratic, Massachusetts, scanning the report, called the committee's attention to the fact that in Minnesota, the home of Volstead, the district attorney was compelled to devote 60 per cent of his time to liquor cases.

When members of the committee questioned concerning the mounting appropriations for the department of justice, E. M. Kennard, representing the department, replied:

"Apart from the merits or demerits of the question it is a fact that the national prohibition act is causing about 90 per cent of the increase."

Later he added that the expenditures of the department of justice had increased from 10 million dollars in 1916 to 18 million dollars in 1922.

STARS TO COMPETE IN BIG BEACH MEET

With many stars entered and assurances received that virtually every high school eligible will send a full team, arrangements were being made at Huntington Beach today to make the annual Tri-County meet to be held there March 24 one of the biggest affairs of its kind in Southern California.

Coach Ray Walker, of the state champion Huntington Beach team, is of the opinion that every high school in Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties will be represented. Walker is in charge of the affair and already has secured the cups and medals.

The seating capacity for rooters on the beach field will be enlarged for the classic, it was announced. Among the entrants will be Smith, sensational Fernando high school sprinter and national interscholastic champion in the 220 yards; Bickmore, of Huntington Beach, national pole vault champ; Nichols of the same school who placed in the high hurdles at the Chicago interscholastic last season, and Martin, star weight man of Riverside.

Bob Weaver of Los Angeles, probably will be starter. Tommy Davis of Lincoln high school, will help officiate.

ORGANIZING BOARD FOR MOOSE NAMED

Charles Hamilton, organizer for the Loyal Order of Moose, today announced here the appointment of the following, who are among those who will be charter members of the lodge to be organized in this city, as a committee on organization: J. H. Langston, attorney; W. E. Pool, M. D.; C. W. Chamberlain, silk buyer; William C. Lorenz, jeweler; James E. Ellis, broker; Frank Slavik, butcher; George Walters, line-man; Robert E. McKnight, display manager; Kenneth M. Carson, mechanic; John F. Rabe, photographer; Louis J. Elwood, optometrist; F. W. Bova, manager.

Hamilton said that since the showing of the pictures of Mooseheart here Monday night, much interest has been aroused in the organization and new members are being added daily.

A meeting of the organization committee is scheduled for an early date, Hamilton said. Fifty members are required before a charter may be secured.

BOTULINUS IS BLAMED FOR DEATHS

CHICAGO, March 2.—A germ, "botulinus," which lurks in spoiled fruit and which gives out a deadly toxin, is also to be found in certain homemade alcoholic concoctions, and it is a germ which causes death, according to a report of the botulinus commission of the United States, made public here.

The report of the commission of which Dr. J. C. Geiger, professor of bacteriology at the University of Chicago, is the head, was made after analysis of a specimen of home manufactured liquor which was believed to have caused the death of four men in California in September, 1919.

This liquor was made at Colusa, California, from home canned peaches, apricots, plums, grapes and tomatoes which were placed in water in a vinegar barrel and allowed to ferment for 10 days. The fruit had been canned at home four or five years before. After it had fermented it contained between 11 and 15 per cent alcohol.

The liquor was drunk by six men, four of whom died. One recovered and the sixth man could not be found, according to Dr. Geiger. Two of the men died on the seventh day after drinking the liquor and the other two died on the ninth. The recovery of the fifth man clearly was attributable to the fact that he had purged himself immediately after drinking the liquor, Dr. Geiger said.

The specimen was turned over to the commission and laboratory tests were made which showed that in spite of the large percentage of alcohol which the beverage contained, the germs botulinus was present. The presence of the germ in home fermented beverages had not been known before.

"It is safe to assume that this germ is to be found in all concoctions which are made in the same manner in which this specimen was made and that death caused by drinking this kind of liquor are attributable to the presence of this germ," Dr. Geiger said.

"The germ gets into the intestines and curls up there, but it is not the intestinal tract alone which is affected by it. It affects all mucous surfaces, broken skin and open flesh wounds."

One of the discoveries of the commission in its work was that the natural habitat of the germ, which multiplies very fast, is on the ground. Associated with Dr. Geiger in his work were Dr. E. C. Dixon of Leland Stanford and Dr. J. F. Meyer of the University of California.

The United States is rated eleventh in the literacy list of leading nations.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville and "Back Home and Broke," with Thomas Meighan and Lila Lee.

TEMPLE—"Java Head," with Leatrice Joy and Albert Roscoe.

WEST END—"The World's Applause," with Bebe Daniels.

ON PRINCESS BILL.

"A Motion to Adjourn," now showing at the Princess, is one of those pictures that do not tell you at the start how it will end. Peter B. Kyne is a young writer who has thoroughly mastered the tricks of his trade; not the least important of these is an ability to devise plots which hold you in suspense from the moment the picture starts until its end.

"A Motion to Adjourn," however, is something more than a plot of adventures—it is a study of character, character such as you encounter far from the big cities. The ornery and worthless types of the world are perfectly amusing types of desert down and out.

WEST END PICTURE DRAWS CAPACITY HOUSES.

Delightful in every way, artistic and stimulating to a degree, William de Mille's latest picture, "The World's Applause," featuring Bebe Daniels and Lewis Stone, is drawing heavily at the West End theatre.

This picture deals with the craze for publicity and its evil consequences to those who indulge in this passion when the breath of passion envelops them. Miss Daniels, as an actress whose passion for publicity all but wrecks her life, is quite artistic. While Mr. Stone, as a self-sacrificing and neglected sweetheart, is splendidly cast. The picture as a whole is excellent and adequate support is rendered by a picked cast of players.

"JAVA HEAD" AT TEMPLE IS POIGNANT DRAMA.

For poignant drama and rare beauty of photography, "Java Head," George Melford's latest production which began a four-day engagement at the Temple theatre here last night, comes close to setting a high-water mark in the production of artistic motion pictures in the opinion of many of those who saw its initial production.

The picture which deals with the life of Salemites in the period of 1847-50 gives one the impression of viewing a rare cameo that has the power of movement.

Melford and his cameraman, Bert Glennon, have literally turned back the pages of history and have shown characters that made Salem the foremost shipping center of the time. These folk move about in the compelling drama which Joseph Hergesheimer put in his novel. There is nothing more real or more heart-breaking than the intense suffering of Nettie Vollar (Jacqueline Logan) caused by unrequited love when her sweetheart, Gerrit Ammidon, (Albert Roscoe) sails into port at the old Derby wharf with his Chinese wife, Taou Yuen (Leatrice Joy).

All of Salem Turns Out. All of Salem is shown at the wharf to welcome the long overdue three-masted ship and the straight-laced New Englanders get the shock of their lives at the sight of Taou Yuen. None is more affected than pretty Nettie Vollar. The subsequent unfolding of the plot and the mending of heart-breaks compels an intense interest in "Java Head."

MEIGHAN ADDS TO LAURELS IN FILM AT YOST.

Fresh from his triumph in "Manslaughter," Thomas Meighan adds to his laurels everywhere with "Back Home and Broke," the current film attraction at the Yost theatre. This new production is the second by George Ade for the screen. Ade wrote "Our Leading Citizen" and the present story specifically for Meighan.

"Back Home and Broke" is rich in humor, with delightful dashes of thrills, suspense and heart tugs. The story deals with the problems of a young man who on the death of his father is left penniless. Made to feel that he occupies an humble position in the town, he leaves to seek success elsewhere. Eventually he returns to the old town, but not as a conquering hero. Apparently he is broke and ridiculed, but he is not. The rest of the story travels in a swift cycle of excitement punctuated by humor which is sure material for laughter.

Meighan's leading woman in this picture is Lila Lee. Alfred Green, who handled three former Meighan successes, was the director.

GETS LONG TERM.

TECUMSEH, Neb., March 2.—Judge J. B. Raper of the district court has sentenced William Welter of Nebraska City to the state reformatory from three to six years. Welter was found guilty of larceny in connection with the burglary of the E. P. Eversole general merchandise store at Elk Creek in December. A motion for a new trial was overruled. Jacob Lanker of Nebraska City is in jail here to stand trial for the same offense. His trial to be early in March.

Kellogg's Bran is Guaranteed to give relief, BECAUSE IT IS ALL BRAN!

Relief from constipation, whether it be mild or chronic, will follow the regular, every-day eating of Kellogg's Bran. We have thousands of letters from former sufferers who tell us that the natural "bulk-action" of this wonderful cereal product has given relief they have not known for years. We guarantee that Kellogg's Bran will free the system from constipation because it is ALL BRAN—not a composition in which bran is added. If constipation is to be permanently relieved, you must eat ALL BRAN—that's why your physician will recommend Kellogg's for constipation.

Constipation creates toxic conditions which poison the blood and every organ of the body. It slows you down mentally and physically, and creates sick headaches, nausea, bad breath, pimples—finally, in many cases, leading to Bright's disease, diabetes and other dreaded illnesses. You must fight constipation with Kellogg's Bran regularly if you want health!

You'll say Kellogg's Bran is really delicious—it has a nut-like flavor that appeals to the most fastidious appetite. Eat it as a cereal, sprinkled on hot or cold cereals or cooked with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls of bran for each person. Be certain to eat at least two tablespoonfuls each day; as much with each meal in chronic cases. Kellogg's is delicious made into muffins, macaroons, raisin bread, griddle cakes. Recipes in every package. Kellogg's Bran is served by leading hotels, clubs and restaurants in individual packages. It is sold by all grocers.

MINER'S WIDOW CARRIES MAIL FOR SUPPORT

ST. LOUIS, March 2.—The bravery of women who gather at the minehead after some disaster does not end when their worst fears have been confirmed.

Four years ago Mrs. Myrtle Capstick, then 33, the mother of seven small children, was widowed by a disaster in a mine at Royalton, Ill. Arthur E. Capstick, Spanish American war veteran and general superintendent of a coal company, met his fate bravely with his men.

Today, Mrs. Capstick, newly appointed as the first and only woman mail messenger in Edwardsville, Ill., is for twelve to fourteen hours a day hauling letters from the railroad to the post office.

From 6 o'clock in the morning to 7:30 at night she loads her truck with sacks of letters, cards and packages in the railroad yards. At the post office she backs in, unloads and is off again for more.

Mrs. Capstick was the successful bidder over a number of men applicants. In defense of her precious cargo, she wears a business-like revolver in her belt. Hard work, handiwork and near zero morning have no terror for the mother striving for an education for her children.

The $1200 which goes with the office will come in handy for the support of the six children who still live with "mother." The oldest son has married. With the exception of Alexander, who is proudly helping her in her duties, and 4-year-old girl, who was a 3-month-old baby when her father was killed, all the children attend school.

"I want my children to have an education," Mrs. Capstick said the other day between trains. "Then the problems of life, which they will have to encounter, will not be so difficult to combat as those which I have been forced to meet."

Like mother-in-law, like daughter, is evidently a slogan of the Capstick family. When the father-in-law, Joseph Capstick, who had been mail messenger in Panama, Ill., for a number of years, died, his wife, Mrs. Clara Capstick, was given the position left vacant by his death.

Mrs. Myrtle Capstick, who was initiated in the midst of the Christmas rush, is certain she can fulfill her new duties. She expects to become Uncle Sam's right-hand woman in Edwardsville.

Employees of the Edwardsville post office express the certainty that Mrs. Capstick will fill the position as well as any former incumbent.

"I see no reason why women should be kept out of work on account of the tradition that they are the gentler sex," said the newly appointed messenger, whose life since the explosion of 1918 no man could describe as smooth and sheltered.

"Times have changed; why not the customs also? I refuse to be handicapped by the term 'weaker sex,'" she declared.

Fourteen hours a day do not see Mrs. Capstick's work ended. There are home duties.

"That's my old job, and I love that, too," she said in concluding the interview.

WHITE WIFE OF RICH INDIAN IS STICKER

CLOVIS, March 2.—Locked in an apartment for two weeks with her full blood Creek Indian husband, Jackson Barnett, 60, wealthiest Indian in the world, in an effort to "sicken her of her bargain," Mrs. Jackson Barnett, white, 40, and mother of a charming daughter of 16, "stuck it out" and defied the world to separate them, according to Mrs. May Case, Clovis newspaper woman, who knew them both.

Mrs. Barnett returned to Muskogee, Oklahoma, last week after a short business visit to Los Angeles. In spite of a storm of protests, Mrs. Barnett married Jackson, who later settled $50 thousand dollars on her and doted in peace before the fire of his palatial home near Muskogee, while she came to Los Angeles to enter her daughter in an exclusive girls' school.

Barnett, made fabulously rich by Government oil, lived in a veritable pig pen before his marriage. Now he lives in a state in a mansion, and according to Mrs. Case, wears a high silk hat on occasion to please his wife.

Mrs. Barnett in a recent statement issued to the Associated Press at Muskogee defied the world to take her husband from her. "I dare 'em to try," she said. "I married Jackson because I loved him and when he dies I will never marry again." Speaking of the settlement made recently by Jackson of more than a half million dollars, she said: "We made the settlement to protect his fortune from designing grafters. The settlement was his wish."

Whether or not the Creek millionaire is happier married remains a question. Mrs. Case believes after seeing him "informally" dressed in Oklahoma last summer that he probably sits before the fire and dreams of the olden days before black water ran out of the ground to sell for much wampum, bringing with it such trinkets as trunks, white collars and high hats.

According to Mrs. Case, Mrs. Barnett was arrested several times following her marriage in an effort to annul the marriage and was at one time locked up in the same apartment with "the sage of Seapulpa," as he is known in the Middle West, for two weeks in an effort to "sicken her." She remained firm.

VESSELS AID IN FORECASTING WEATHER

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Ships that pass in the north Pacific ocean at night and send wireless reports on weather conditions in their paths are the most important aides enlisted in the service of the District Weather Forecaster's office here, which anticipates climatic conditions in Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho and Nevada.

As nine-tenths of all elemental disturbances originate and center in the Pacific ocean, according to G. H. Willson, chief forecaster, wireless reports from craft moving in the seldom traveled north Pacific route are needed to make accurate forecasts. When there are no ships moving in the north Pacific, the weather man here must "go it blind" and make predictions without information from his most important sector from the weather viewpoint.

Ships Make Daily Reports. Ships in the Pacific ocean report by wireless to the naval radio station on Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco Bay at 8 o'clock each morning and night. These reports are relayed by landlines to the weather bureau office here, which is located on the top of a downtown skyscraper. These reports give the position of the boat, height of the barometer at the hour, temperature, direction and force of the wind. The data is entered on a large map indicating the longitude and latitude of the boat.

Before making a daily forecast, Mr. Willson takes into consideration all information received from observers in five states and the scientific deduction which twelve employees make in the office from the reports available. However, there are exceptions to this rule.

Recently no ships reported from the north Pacific for more than twenty-four hours. Fair weather was reported in every land point in the district and there was no elemental indication of any disturbance. Small balloons released from the roof of the bureau indicated a high southwesterly wind.

Disregarding every other indication of continued fair weather, Mr. Willson predicted rain for the next twenty-four hours. That night, eight hours later, a storm slipped in from the Pacific ocean and four hours later drenched four western states and moved toward the Atlantic coast.

Pacific Storms Extend Across U. S. Storms which develop in the north Pacific ocean usually extend across the United States, according to the records of the Weather Bureau, if they are not dissipated in the Rocky Mountain plateau region.

"Only one who has had much practical experience in weather forecasting can foretell how far rains or high winds will extend," said Mr. Willson, who has been in the weather service for forty-three years and alternates monthly in making day predictions with Elvina A. Bales, who has been in the service for more than forty years.

The value of this experience is seen in reports from Washington, which shows that more than ninety per cent of the forecasts made by the district weather bureau here in a year are accurate.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic 'acid stomach,'" says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastric accompaniment by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin of artificial stimulants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the acid, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bismarck. Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck and Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge soaks up water and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck and Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use. It is not a live and is not at all expensive.—adv.

Now the big distribution starts, and every reader who presents three of the Bible Coupons as explained in the daily announcements, will come into immediate possession of the greatest of all great pieces of literature, The Bible—which is now being distributed by leading newspapers throughout the land. Choose either style, the large Red Letter volume illustrated herein, or the less elaborate Style B. Both styles complete, as to contents.

What Four Great Writers Say of the Bible ITS WONDERFUL LITERARY AND MORAL VALUE

Macaulay Says: "If everything else in our language should perish, the Bible would alone suffice to show the whole extent of its beauty and power."

When Walter Scott Lay Dying, he said to his son-in-law: "Lockhart, read me something from the Book." Lockhart asked, "What book?" Scott replied: "Why do you ask? There is but one Book—the Bible!"

Coleridge Says: "Intense study of the Bible will keep any writer from being vulgar in point of style."

John Richard Green Says: "As a mere literary monument the Bible remains the noblest language of the English tongue, while its perpetual use made it from the instant of its appearance, the standard of our language."

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson
Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for March 4, Luke 20:19-26; 21:1-4. JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE.

"The scribes and the chief priests sought to lay hands on him."—v. 19. Jesus was a heretic! The church dignitaries, who lived and acted according to "cut-and-dried" traditions and dogmas, had pronounced such a verdict against him—and if anybody knew, they did!

A "heretic" has no more chance for escape, when they "get after" him, than has a hare when pursued by a pack of hounds. For didn't they torture heretics to death by means of every Satanic device imaginable in time of the Inquisition, burn them alive at Smithfield and elsewhere, and in our own Colonial days whip, pillory, imprison and banish them? There is no darker, sadder chapter in our entire history than that concerning the religious intolerance of the early Colonists. It was the spirit of the scribes and chief priests manifesting itself again, and, strangely enough, by those who had taken refuge from religious persecution on the inhospitable shores of the New World.

It has taken the world a long, long time to learn the practical meaning of religious tolerance according to the standard of the Golden Rule. And neither yet has the lesson been well learned except by a comparatively few. Thanks to some of our own far-seeing and patriotic forefathers—including among them such men of "unorthodox" belief as Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin—our country is today a land of religious liberty. We permit the belief and practice of any and every religion on earth, so long as there is no interference with like privileges accorded to others. Church, tabernacle, cathedral, synagogue, "gospel tent," Buddhist temple, mosque, joss-house, and those who worship in them all protected by law! Jews, Catholics, Protestants, "Holy Rollers," Pagans, Doukhobors, Mormons, Mohammedans—every creed and cult—all worshipping at the shrine of their choice, and untroubled! Whatever lack of order and harmony there may be in this religious conglomeration, it is more than counterbalanced by the spirit of tolerance, and for that reason must be well-pleasing to God.

It would be about as difficult to enact a tragedy in the United States of America similar to that which culminated in the death of Jesus as it would be to halt the stars in their courses. All hail to the land of the free!

"They feared the people."—v. 19. No man, with safety to the cause he advocates, may go contrary to public opinion. What the common people believe at any given time may be right or it may be wrong, according to a correct standard. But whether right or wrong, whoever arbitrarily and autocratically opposes their settled convictions places the cause he champions in jeopardy. The masses, unfortunately, are like sheep, in that they follow, more or less from a kind of blind instinct, their leaders. Consequently they are fickle and inconstant. Just at this time the people recognized the leadership of Jesus.

You are one of the people—one of the common people, maybe. There are certain men whom you admire—in religion, politics, business and society—and you follow them. Look at the common people of Germany and of Austria ten, or even five years ago, and then look at them today. One step more, their leaders made them believe, and they would have "a place in the sun." That step was fatal. There is a place today where the sun never shines.

Certain leaders would have your help—and in many ways they are soliciting it—in ignoring and belittling the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution—and with it all law of which they do not approve. To the extent that they fear you, this cannot be done. This then is pertinent: Just where do you stand with reference to this and all other legal—moral questions?

"Spies, who feigned themselves righteous that they might take hold of his speech, as he to deliver him up."—v. 20. There is a legitimate place for the plain-clothes policeman. But for the professional al-purveyor-of-proof there is none. The man who assumes to be what he is not that he may gain the confidence of another and so secure information to which he is not entitled is beneath contempt. These spies employed flattery, which is the fool's-gold that shrewd fools make use of in buying desired information from unwitting fools. Strange, too, how many "poor fish" will swallow the cruel hook that is so poorly concealed by a gilt worm. Those who are given to self-praise are the more easily caught by the adulation they receive from others. A good opinion of yourself should not go to the extent of egotism. Jesus was no egotist, though no one ever had a higher opinion of himself than he. Hence with the "trap" that was meant for him he caught those who attempted to entrap him. If you would be safe against the wiles of those who offer you false praise that they may gain some advantage to which they are not entitled, from yourself from vanity, self-conceit, egotism. Get rid of them all their relations. Clean house!

Residents of Providence, R. I., have started a campaign to raise $100,000 as a fund to enable fifty high school students each year to complete courses which otherwise would end because of lack of funds.

GIVEN EXTENSIONS FOR CAMP CURRY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—An announcement of importance to California motorists was made yesterday by Mrs. D. A. Curry of Camp Curry in the Yosemite National park, following her return from Washington, D. C., with a written decision from the Department of the Interior providing for an extension of the Curry Camping Company's activities in the Yosemite.

"This decision makes it possible for Camp Curry to provide better service than ever before to the traveling public in the Yosemite," states Mrs. Curry, who is president of the Curry Camping Company. "It provides for real garage service for Camp Curry's guests. Gasoline and oil can be sold at the Camp Curry garage and the new extension of privileges also provides for greasing and washing of cars, and making minor adjustments, in addition to the storage garage privileges already obtainable.

"A new housekeeping unit will also be constructed as a part of Camp Curry, as result of the department's latest decision. This will extend the camp's activities into a new phase of accommodations for the public. There will also be a Camp Curry store, well-stocked with groceries and provisions of all kinds.

"While all of our requests were not granted in full, we are well pleased, indeed, with the extension of privileges given us, and appreciate the fair and impartial manner in which the hearing was conducted.

Bob Williams and Don Tressler, managers of Camp Curry, have already entered upon preparations for the changes the new rulings make possible in the arrangements at the famous Yosemite resort. Supplies and equipment have been purchased and the new services will be in operation by the opening of the 1923 season. This will be Camp Curry's twenty-fifth year.

Maccabees

When Mrs. Annie Arnold opened her home at 405 South Birch street to the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees recently a happy day resulted for the members who accepted her hospitality.

Meeting in the morning hours, all chatted merrily until noon when a delicious surprise luncheon to which each contributed her favorite dish was enjoyed. Afternoon passed swiftly with music, conversation and needlework. The members will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Nelson Galbraith at her West Fourth street home.

Those present were Mesdames Townner, Matthews, Spencer, Culver, Jasper, Geopner, Schiassmann, Somerville, Erickson, Brackney, Leslie Curtis, Lee, Wood, Lyken, Ericks, Ostot, Moya, Parker, Nelson and Peters.

THE GREEN-EYED ACCOMPLICE

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim

Arrest NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SIR NORMAN GREYES, formerly of Scotland Yard, joins the chase of MICHAEL SAYERS, famous criminal. Sayers, masquerading as Thomas Pugsley, broker, is recognized by Greys, who sends a police inspector to accost Sayers on the street. Sayers shoots the inspector and escapes. Returning to his home, Michael questions his maid.

JANET SOALE. Later at the golf club he finds Greys seated in the grill.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Sir Norman Greys' Side

I resigned my position at Scotland Yard for two reasons. First, as a protest against an act of gross injustice which, although it did not affect me personally, was still bitterly resented by the majority of my fellow-workers, and secondly because, through the unexpected death of a distant relative, I succeeded to a baronetcy and a sufficient income.

I spent the best part of three years in travel, nearly half of which time I was in the United States. On my return to London I found myself, much against my will, hankering after my old profession. It was very clear to me that my old department had lost the mastery it had once had over the criminal world. The problems of several cold-blooded murders and various large and daring robberies remained entirely unsolved. In the intervals of my country life, I began to study these from an outsider's point of view, chiefly from the columns of the newspapers, but also to some extent from hints and information supplied to me by my friend Inspector Rimmington, who had been one of my colleagues in the old days and now held the post which I had vacated. Gradually I came to a certain conclusion, a conclusion which I kept largely to myself because I felt sure that no one at the Yard was likely to agree with me. I decided that the majority of these undetected crimes were due to one person, or rather to one gang of criminals presided over by one dominant leader. Purely from the developed instinct by my long years of service in the police department, I set myself the task of hunting down this super-criminal.

There were three crimes which I became convinced had been committed by the same hand. The first was the great robbery of jewels from Messrs. Henson & Watts' establishment in Regent Street, and the murder of the watchman, who was shot dead at his post. No trace of even a single article of this jewelry had ever been discovered. The second crime was the robbery of a number of bonds from a messenger in a railway carriage on the London, Chatham and Dover line. The messenger was also shot, but recovered after six months' nursing, although he could never give any coherent account of what had happened to him. The bonds were disposed of in South America. The third was the robbery from Lord Wenderley's house in Park Lane.

There were other crimes which I thought might be connected with these; but these three, for various reasons, became linked together in my mind as the outcome of one man's planning. I set myself the task of discovering this one man, and the day came at last when I really believed that I was in a position to lay my hand upon him. There is no necessity to detail the evidence which pointed to this man. It is enough to say that after watching him for three weeks, I became convinced that a man of the name of Thomas Pugsley, carrying on business in Bermondsey as a leather broker, and living apparently the most respectable of lives at Brixton, was in some measure connected with these crimes. I discovered that Pugsley's leather-goods business was prosecuted without energy or attention, that his frequent absences from London were not in neighborhoods where his wares could be pushed, and that he was often away for a month at a time, with his whereabouts unknown even to his landlady. The latter was a highly respectable woman at whose house he had lived for the last two years and who, I honestly believe, was ignorant of her lodger's antecedents, habits and business. By taking rooms in the neighborhood, I easily discovered all that she knew and one or two circumstances which lent color to my suspicions. I placed these before Rimmington, and it was decided to make an arrest.

A more clumsy piece of business than this intended arrest was never planned or carried out to effect. The inspector placed in charge of the affair by Rimmington, and his two subordinates, arrived at Brixton an hour later than the time fixed upon, accosted Pugsley in the street, and were very soon made aware of the class of person with whom they had to deal. Before the inspector could get out half a dozen words, he was lying on the pavement with a bullet through his shoulder. His companions dragged him to the pavement and set him up against the railings. Then they turned to look for Pugsley. There was not a trace of him to be discovered anywhere.

The amazing skill and cunning of the man was amply demonstrated on that morning. By some extraordinary means he seemed to disappear from the face of the earth. That morning which witnessed, however, the shooting of the inspector and the remarkable disappearance of the man in whom I was so deeply interested, was memorable, so far as I was concerned, for another noteworthy incident. Absolutely disgusted with the result of my six months' labors, I determined to wipe the whole thing from my memory, and traveled down to Woking with the intention of playing a round of golf. I was introduced by the secretary to a resident of the place whose name was James Stanfield, and we had a round which ranks amongst the best I ever played in my life.

Stanfield was a silent but by no means a gloomy person. He appeared to be about forty years of age and an absolute golf maniac. He played every shot with the most ridiculous care, but I must confess with also the most wonderful precision. His drives were never long, but they were long enough for him to escape trouble, and in the approximate eighty shots which he took to complete the course, I cannot remember one that was in any way fluffed or fozzled. He beat me at the seventeenth hole, and it was while we stood together upon the eighteenth tee that the incident happened which was to bring still more excitement into the day.

On our right was a small planting of shrubs through which wound the path which my partner pointed out to me as leading to his house. Our attention was attracted by the continued barking of a small dog which had wandered from the adjacent footpath. I had the curiosity to walk a step or two into the shrubbery to see what was the trouble. My companion, however, who was a little on my left, was the first to discover the cause of the dog's excitement. At a little cry from him I hurried to his side. Stretched upon his back, with extended arms, and a small blue hole in his forehead, we found the body of a man. He was dead but still warm, and by an extraordinary chance I at once recognized him. He was one of the two plain-clothes policemen whom I had seen in Woolleton Road that morning, foiled in his attempt to arrest the man who had been passing under the name of Thomas Pugsley!

Janet Soale's Explanation
Just before midday on Thursday, the third of November, my master made one of his unexpected reappearances. I was not surprised. Only the night before, I had dreamed of him, and it seemed to me impossible that with my passionate prayers going out day by day, he should stay away much longer. When I first saw him turn in at the gate, I was filled with excitement. If he could have seen me at that moment, he would have known and understood everything. By the time he had reached the front door, however, and I let him in, I had regained my self-control. I must have seemed to him just the ordinary well-mannered, well-conducted parlor-maid.

He changed his clothes and went off presently for his round of golf. When I went to his room to brush and press the clothes which he had taken off, I found, however, that he had placed them in a drawer and apparently locked it. The discovery, coming on top of many others, gave me food for thought. I resolved to watch the next morning's newspapers. It was becoming more and more clear to me that there was something in my master's manner of life which was anxious to conceal from the world. I was the more convinced of this when I saw that in the top drawer, which I had opened to take out a tie, he had concealed a small revolver, loaded in all six chambers.

LOSES BY ROBBERY.

SIoux City, Ia., March 2.—A man registered at the Polk hotel at Sioux City, paying fifty cents for his room. E. Hough, the clerk, showed this man to his room. When they arrived at the room the man who had just registered produced a revolver, frisked Hough and locked him in the room. The robber got only twenty-five cents. Police are looking for the gun toter.

The result of a vote taken among the students of one of the largest universities in the United States shows that the average college student spends approximately $60 per month for expenses. This amount is exclusive of tuition and textbooks.

How about your Weight?

Are you getting fat and flabby—with lapses of laziness, both mental and physical? Maybe the trouble is with your diet. Perhaps you are eating too much of the same kind of food.

Doctors call Shredded Wheat "a well-balanced ration"—for it contains every essential food element in the right proportion—just enough of everything to keep the body properly nourished without becoming sluggish.

Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk (hot or cold) make a satisfying meal.

Shredded Wheat is 100% whole wheat, ready-cooked and ready-to-eat. A perfect, delicious food for any meal of the day. Serve it simply with milk or cream, or topped with berries or fruits. Contains all the bran you need to stimulate bowel movement. It is salt-free and unsweetened—you season it to your taste.

Triscuit is the Shredded Wheat Cracker—a real whole-wheat toast. Try it with butter, soft cheese or marmalades.

GENARO-VILLA BOUT RAPPED BY FARRELL

Expert Says Filipino Was Easy Winner In Battle for Flyweight Title

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 2.—Frankie Genaro, a little swarthy Italian from the eastside, rode into the American flyweight championship last night on what New Yorkers call, anciently but expressively, one of those things.

With a "Philadelphia finish," Genaro grandstanded through the last two rounds of a fifteen round go with Pancho Villa, the slant-eyed Filipino, and the judges gave him the decision, the title and the good sized wad of dough that goes with it.

For those who had expected a whirlwind battle from two of the "lightest" little men in the world, it was a big disappointment and for those who bet two to one on Pancho it was a heartbreaker.

There were more yelps at the finish when the judges handed down the decision last week that Gene Tunney beat Harry Greb for the light heavyweight championship.

Villa won every way from the jack. He did all the leading and the judges should count fifty per cent. He did all the work, the exception of a little dig he got in the last round, he was never touched. Villa went through the fight with supreme confidence that he was winning and when the decision was announced he was nearer a knockout than he had ever been in the bout.

Villa had one bad fault—he was too eager to finish the former Olympic champion with a knockout and missed two dozen shots at the jaw. Genaro is a great boxer and he made the Filipino look bad when he tried to connect and couldn't.

Had Villa started out like Genaro, who obviously was out to win on points if he could, the title would never have changed ownership, insofar as one can surmise in these days of terrible decisions. Genaro was there just to box and make a good showing, the idea of a knockout never entering his head. He just stood there, catching them as Villa pitched them over to him. The judges apparently regarded him as a mighty good catcher.

LOCAL GOLFERS TOP INTER-CLUB SERIES

The golf team of the Orange County Country club today was looking down from the top of the percentage row in Class C, in the Inter-Club tournament among Southern California organizations.

The local men have won nine of their matches and lost but six. The Red Hill club of Claremont is second with eight won to seven lost. The Orange County club golfers defeated the Western Avenue club men this week, 5 to 0. The scores follow:

Browning-Farnsworth (O) defeated White-Stokes (W), 1 up; C. Twist-Shattuck (O) defeated Wyatt-MacDaniels (W), 4 and 2; Lacy-Smith (O) defeated Platt-Johnson (W), 2 and 1; Cornell-Parkinson (O) defeated Conrad-Van Houten (W), 3 and 2; Wallace-Jeffrey (O) defeated Hall-Thrift (W), 3 and 2.

Tennis Balls 35x504—Hawley's

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

C. J. Schultz, 1637 West Fourth street, is an ardent baseball fan and he believes the Irvine baseball team, champions of the Orange County Harbor league, hasn't received the credit it justly deserved for its record of eleven games won to one lost throughout the winter season.

In a letter to the sporting editor of The Register, Schultz said: "In regard to the Irvine baseball team, champions of the Orange County Harbor league."

"I have seen every game played and would like to give credit to all the players, especially the outfield which saved many a run. I believe Hinrichs is the best prospect around here for big stuff. He has a good head and is a good batter. I hope he will make good. (Hinrichs is trying out with the Los Angeles club of the Coast league.)

"I should like to draw attention to a triple play made against Garden Grove, and also several pegs thrown by Lanfranco to first base. Also four sensational catches which Left Fielder Carl Schultz made in the last two games and also his home run hit with the bases full. Schultz led the batting list.

It would be very interesting to have the club standings published."

There isn't much question about the class of the Irvine team. Manager A. J. Trickey gathered together a classy list of baseball players and during the latter stages of the pennant race the team never had any serious opposition despite the fact that there were at last four other fast amateur clubs in the running.

"Dutch" Hinrichs, the former U. S. C. twirler, was easily the leading heavier in the circuit. He never lost a game during the season and most of his performances resulted in four or five hit games. His work was so good that it attracted the attention of the Los Angeles scouts.

The Mitchell brothers, Ralph and "Bub," were always a big asset to the club and particularly dangerous with the big stick. Carl Schultz was probably the heaviest hitting batsman in the entire league. His terrific slugging had much to do with Irvine's success and his work in the field was faultless.

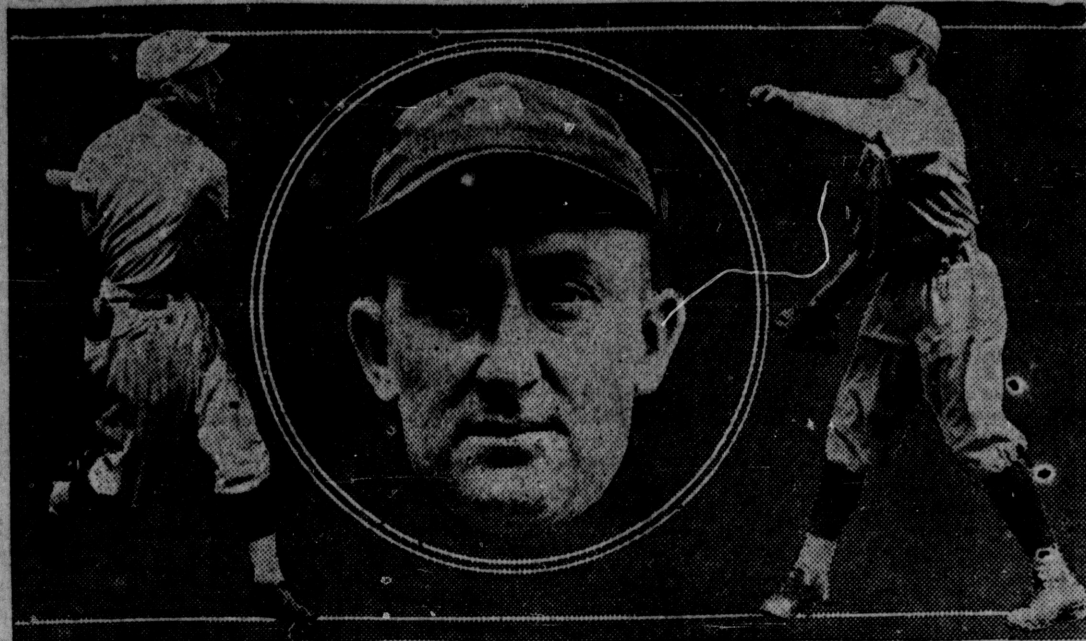

One of the largest crowds that ever glimmed a baseball encounter in Orange county is expected to gather at Irvine Sunday when the Harbor league title holders clash with "Radiant Red" Killifer's squad of regulars and rookies.

Killifer will permit Hinrichs to leave for his old teammates. The Irvine club will be composed of the same men who annexed the Harbor league championship. "Tough" Tyrrell, Santa Ana boy, will probably do some of the catching for the Angels. The Angel boss has taken a liking to Tyrrell's backstopping and has advised him to devote his time to the mask and big mitt rather than with infield work.

The Harbor league got its biggest boost this season with four of its players going into organized professional baseball. Harry Blaeholder, Salt Lake pitcher, played in the outfield for the Garden Grove team. His brother, George, was signed for a trial with the St. Louis Browns as the result of his splendid work with the Tustin Knights of Pythias club.

Hinrichs hurled such stellar baseball for Irvine that "Red" Killifer's band couldn't safely pass him up without a trial.

SUPERMEN RARE IN SPORTS

BOY JOCKEY TOUTED AS NEW TOD SLOAN

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—

Johnny Corcoran, 92-pound jockey, who is still in apprentice class, is rapidly becoming the sensation of the turf regardless of the fact that he has not been riding the bangtails long enough to win his spurs.

Four years ago Johnny was the prize-winner catechism student of St. Joseph's school, New Orleans, but he literally slid out of school on a rope and landed on the race track, with the result that he is now riding for Mose Goldblatt and is expected to wind up the season on the New Orleans track with a record for winning mounts.

Late in 1921 he got his first chance to ride and brought Lucky John in fourth place, outside the money, by a whisker. His second mount, J. Rufus, came in second and Kirby decided by the lad's intelligent handling of the thoroughbred that he was destined to become a great jockey.

It was not until 1922 that he got his real chance at regular riding and he made a big cleanup at Latonia. This year at City Park meet at New Orleans he has brought 25 horses in first in 32 races and has ridden more than twice that number under the wire either second or third. His best day was three winners, two seconds, and a third.

Johnny is 17 years of age, and though his winnings have not been as large as they otherwise would be were he not under his first contract, he "takes home the bacon" to his mother regularly, and his clean habits and earnestness have made him one of the biggest favorites in the game with race horse owners.

"Look out for Johnny Corcoran, he's going to be another Tod Sloan," says Mose Goldblatt.

POLY TRACKSTERS IN MEET WITH HARVARD

Both the Santa Ana and Huntington Beach teams saw action this afternoon. The local men, under the lead of Coach Ray Adkinson, were engaging in a duel meet with the Harvard Military academy team at Los Angeles while Ray Walker's state champions were competing with the San Diego high school speed demons at the border city oval.

BY BILLY EVANS.

Supermen in any branch of sport are mighty rare. Many seek greatness in the world of sport, but only few achieve it. Every year the major leagues call the ranks of the minors, semipro and colleges for likely material.

The scouts are instructed not to overlook any player who has ability, regardless of how green he may be.

Every spring fandom is fed up on the possibilities of the recruits. Scores are touted as certain to deliver, yet it is a rarity to dig up a youngster capable of stepping right into a major league berth and making good.

Players like Cobb, Wagner, Sisler, Mathewson and other outstanding stars of the diamond happen just every so often. Many a recruit is touted as a second Cobb or Wagner only to fade out when put to the real test.

Fans like Big Thrill. The big thrill in baseball is the unexpected. The flashy players like Cobb provide the thrill. No one will deny that Cobbs in baseball are few and far between.

Only recently, in commenting on the great players of the game, John McGraw, famous manager of the New York Giants, paid Cobb a real compliment by saying:

"Cobb is one of the greatest players the game has ever produced. The secret of his success is doing the unexpected. He is always on the offensive, doing things that will test the metal of other players."

Cobb for years has enjoyed the honor of being the most versatile player in baseball—a player capable of doing everything as near perfect as it is possible for a human being to perform.

When Father Time began to make inroads on Cobb, there flashed on the horizon another brilliant star—George Sisler. Sisler came direct to the American League from the University of Michigan. In a few months he had proved that he was a great southpaw pitcher. Incidentally, he showed that he could hit, and that he was one of the fastest men in the game.

Was it a waste of power to merely use Sisler as a pitcher every fourth day? It was decided in the affirmative and Sisler was made over into a first baseman. Today he is conceded by all experts to be the premier at that position. He is a wonder in the field, at the bat, and on the bases. Sisler is the logical successor to Ty Cobb when the Georgian decides to give up active play.

Frankie Frisch Arrives. Now, just as Sisler reaches the height of fame, another marvel steps into the picture—Frankie Frisch of the New York Giants. Who will be the next diamond phenom to vie with Sisler, Cobb and Frisch for baseball honors?

BATTLING SIKI ON TRAINING TOUR OF PARIS BARS, CLAIM

PARIS, March 2.—Two private guards and every bartender in Paris are trying to get the idea over on Battling Siki, the heavyweight champion of Europe, that he has a fight on in Dublin next "Patrick's Day" with Mike McTigue, the British title holder.

The arrangements were made months ago, the purses decided on and every little thing completed, but Siki has been training so diligently in cafes that he doesn't want to break the routine.

Siki, up to the ears in "vin," missed two trains for Dublin last night, and when he was finally towed to the station in plenty of time to be poured on the last train, he flatly refused to go and offered battle to those who remonstrated.

M. Harris, the promoter of the bout, is in despair. He hired two of the biggest men in Paris—former bouncers at the American Bar—to keep Siki sober, but the battler was such a good patient that he persuaded the guards to celebrate with him and the three of them disappeared and were found only after an eighteen-hour search.

ST. LOUIS CATCHER IS BANE OF SPEED BOYS, FOUL HITTERS

Hank Severid, star catcher of the St. Louis Browns, holds two unusual records. One relates to catching four flies, the other to throwing out base runners. Four flies are the bane of every catcher. Weakness in going after fouls is a fault of a majority of big league receivers.

The fact that the catcher must tear off his mask, make a blind start, since he doesn't exactly know the direction of the ball, and in addition is hampered by heavy shin guards and protector, adds to his troubles.

During his entire major league career Severid has missed only one foul ball. That is a most remarkable and unusual performance.

His record of throwing out 41 men out of 43 who tried to steal on him in consecutive games is equally out of the ordinary.

PATHFINDERS AGAIN WIN IN 'Y' LEAGUE

Greenville Five Succumbs To Local Team; A. C. M. Y. Players Victorious

The Pathfinders and the A. C. M. Y. basketball teams both emerged victorious from their games in the Senior Y. M. C. A. league at the Santa Ana 'Y' courts on North Sycamore street last night.

The Pathfinders grabbed a sensational fray from the Greenville quintet by the score of 29 to 29. The tilt offered the fans plenty of thrills as the Greenville players were always within striking distance of victory.

The A. C. M. Y's had an easier time of it and they rolled up a 31 to 8 score on the T. N. T's. "Rudy" Romo, forward for the A. C. M. Y's was the big cheese of the fracas and the guards on his outfit took the kick out of the T. N. T's attack.

The lineups:
Greenville: Mandersheid, F. Harless, R. Bell, Lockett, F. Memphis, J. Planchon, C. F. Bell, C. Planchon, C. French, Harmon, G. Hyl.

T. N. T.: Patrick, F. Romo, Clark, F. Johnson, Brown, G. Rice, Hardin, G. Harrison, Hays.

Substitutes for T. N. T's—Harper and Vaughter.

LABOR AND CITY MANAGER

Organized labor, in common with all good citizens, is best served by an honest, economical and efficient system of government. In the cities that have recently adopted the city-manager plan, labor leaders have taken keen interest in the elections. The Register is pleased to be able to give the opinions of representatives of organized labor.

From the Dubuque, Iowa, Trades and Labor Congress: "Organized labor, being responsible for the present form of government in a large measure, is very well pleased with the progress and method of application of the manager plan."

From E. A. Nunan, editor of the "Labor Review," Dayton, Ohio: "From the standpoint of the laboring man no objection can be voiced to the city-manager form of government. In fact, our experience in Dayton has shown the system to be satisfactory in every respect not meaning that labor receives any special consideration, but it does receive all that it asks—an even break."

From W. G. Lee, National President, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen: "I have personally investigated how the city-manager plan has worked out in Dayton. I have asked railroad men about it. I don't see how any workman can oppose the plan after investigating it."

"I see nothing undemocratic in having the city-manager selected by the council. A city-manager doesn't rule anybody. He doesn't pass any laws. He doesn't determine any public policies."

"I'm for the city-manager plan because it makes possible the elimination of politics from public business, and that means better government and lower taxes."

"I should like to see Cleveland adopt the city-manager plan."

From "Labor News," Watertown, New York: "The Labor News helped to elect the new city administration, and we never have regretted it. We predict confidently that the new government will win an unshakable hold upon the esteem of our citizens."

From the Wheeling (W. Va.) Register: "At a four-hour session the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly went on record yesterday at the semi-monthly meeting in endorsing the city-manager form of government, as it has been operative in this city for the past several years."

From W. J. Adames, editor Railway Carmen's Journal (K. C., Mo.): "The reason the city-manager plan of city government appeals to me so strongly is because of its two basic features, the short ballot principle and the unification of powers."

"In corporations we find a board of directors elected by and from among the stockholders. This board of directors in turn elects a business manager, whom they hold responsible for the wise management and conduct of the business. Why should this same principle not apply in our municipal affairs?"

FRENCH EXPENSE BILL

The French minister of finance has had to ask for an appropriation of 100,000,000 francs for expenses of occupation in the Ruhr. He will ask for a great deal more before that occupation is ended.

Germany is expected to repay it, of course. The sum is set down in the books as "recoverable expenses." But adding it to the billions of other expenses already itemized as "recoverable," the French may have to whistle to keep up their hope.

The Germans so far show little sign of yielding. Rather resistance seems to be strengthening. The French are in so deep that they can hardly withdraw now without tremendous loss of prestige. So they may be expected to go farther and farther in coercing the sullen enemy.

Suppose the German had steadfastly refused to lay golden eggs with a hissing row of bayonets around her nest. Without German working there can be no profit; without profit, no reparation in money or goods. The French may take territory then. Possibly that is what they really want.

Whether land or money, both nations are very foolish about it. Their only chance of pulling out of the hole in which the war left them is in co-operation.

THE UNRECOGNIZED INVENTOR

The tragedy of the fundless inventor, like that of the funless artist, is repeated year after year. It just has been reported that the first practical method for transmitting writing by wireless was discovered 16 years ago by a young Frenchman named Basset, but the true importance of his invention was not discovered until within a year. In the meantime other devices for the same purpose have been brought out by other inventors more fortunate in obtaining recognition.

According to the French story, Basset completed his invention in 1907. He submitted apparatus and documents concerning it to the Academy of the Sciences, but these were pigeon-holed and never brought out until a short time ago. Then a brief examination revealed that the device was not only applicable for present use but was equally practical upon the day it was completed.

The poor inventor, lacking money or influential friends to push his work, apparently retired from the scene discouraged while the invention that should have brought him fame and at least some fortune lay neglected.

Such cases suggest the need of public funds to assure the impecunious person with a real idea at least a run for his brains.

THE BATTLE OF THE BUDGET

A brand new problem has bobbed up in Washington in connection with the rivers and harbors bill. The budget bureau allowed $27,000,000 for waterway improvements and the administration accordingly asked for that sum. Congress in its wisdom raised the appropriation to $56,000,000, for reasons regarded by itself as patriotic and by outside critics as porcine. Now the question is whether the war department, which is in charge of waterways, has to spend that whole $56,000,000.

For the first time, apparently, in the history of the United States, an administrative department objects to spending all the money Congress is willing to give it. The President wants to live up to the budget, and apparently the secretary of war concurs. Congress, especially the senate, insists on the expenditure of the entire amount.

Obviously the only way to make a budget work is to live up to a budget when it has been made. It would be a sorry spectacle if the United States, after telling European governments that they ought to meet their budgets, should prove unwilling to do so itself. This is a small test of a big issue, with little doubt as to where the public stands. If the war department can save that extra $29,000,000, it will have won a new battle.

It appears that Edison was the head of the naval board that pigeon-holed 45 inventions of his during the war. If that's so, Edison must be as good a pigeon-holeer as he is an inventor.

George Downing's Legacy

San Diego Union.

A young man, 36 years old, who died in a San Francisco hospital Tuesday night left a legacy that makes his widow and his two small children rank with the richest people in the world. The fortune he leaves was won in about three weeks of effort. The effort caused his death.

George S. Downing, formerly assistant superintendent of the Argonaut Mining company, is the man and the fortune he leaves his widow and little children is their deathless memory of the manner in which he gave his life. In the black period of the Argonaut disaster, he spent himself in three weeks of untiring effort, cherishing gallantly the forlorn hope that some of the imprisoned miners in the Argonaut shaft might still be saved. He collapsed utterly when the 46 bodies were found, and now his death adds still another name to the list of Argonaut victims.

The legacy that he leaves is beyond comparison richer than the last bequest of any millionaire of the heritage left to aspiring princelings by any dynastic king of ancient times. It is a treasure beyond price, incorruptible, safe eternally from the ravages of time or the evil designs of men. It is an inheritance that never can be turned to sordid or selfish use, and that never will be an instrument of oppression or a cause of war. Downing's two little children and his young widow are inconceivably rich.

We are curious creatures, humans, spending our few years in all manner of diverse and feverish effort. All too seldom do we build any fair and lasting thing to survive us. All too often do we sacrifice character and steadfast ideals to hoard up a little fortune in money and lands for those who come after to quarrel over or dissipate. It is uplifting—a breath of clean air from virgin mountains—to read in the news of the world's troubles and disasters the story of one man who built character, met the supreme moment with quiet heroism and left to his children a heritage of things eternal.

Form Law Institute

Fresno Republican.

Some of the most eminent lawyers in the United States have joined in forming the "American Law Institute."

It will be of service in clarifying and in simplifying the law.

It will be of even more service in informing certain lawyers and their misguided fellow citizens that the law can be and should be clarified and simplified.

There are difficulties enough about the law, with having it abstruse or recondite. Law is always under the difficulty of seeking to reduce to generalities the particularities of human experience.

But at least, this should be the summation of legal difficulty. It should not have added to it the burden of obscure language of interpreting the conditions of the present into the circumstances of the past. It should not presume that human rights should be made to conform to legal terms. Law was made for man and not man for the law.

Gasoline Production Huge

Long Beach Press.

That gasoline production in the United States increased 20 per cent during the year 1922 is of general interest. The output reached the enormous volume of more than 6,200,000,000 gallons. Present stocks of gasoline total more than $83,000,000 gallons, which is equal to normal supply for 64 days. In other words, if all production of gasoline ceased suddenly, and if the consumption proceeded in normal volume, within 64 days the country would be drained dry, so far as gasoline is concerned.

The nearness of consumption to production indicates how delicately adjusted this essential fuel is as to supply and demand. It also denotes the vital importance of finding an acceptable substitute "just as good" as gasoline, which can be produced in unlimited quantities at low cost. This is a problem for constructive science. Gasoline, in time, is sure to reach the peak of production. But the volume of consumption is sure to increase steadily. Hence the importance of finding some cheap fuel to be had in stupendous volume.

Cattle Have Road Rights

Stockton Record.

One would hardly think it necessary for California stock men to have to make an appeal to motorists to slow down when they meet a band of cattle on the highway or, better still, stop and wait at the side of the road until the herd is driven by. The writer never happened to see a motorist who didn't halt or drive very slowly when a band of cattle or sheep was encountered allowing them to part and get by the machine without injury to themselves or it. One reason for this courteous rule of the road is that a band of cattle on a mountain road is rather a formidable looking aggregation to meet, particularly if the animals are excited or frightened into plunging about. Nor is it exactly easy to speed through a herd of sheep. They have rather a tenacious way of claiming their rights on the road.

However, the cattle men would not have issued the appeal if there were not occasion for it. The farmer driving a few cattle on a country road is the one most apt to have them scattered by careless speeders who have not yet learned that other cattle have rights on the road.

Washington a Sage Guide

Pasadena Star-News.

George Washington, advising his countrymen with reference to domestic policies and foreign relations, was notably moderate. At no time was the Father of His Country an extremist. He was not even an advocate of independence in the early stage of the differences between the colonies and the government of George III. He was loyal to the colonies, of course, and when the die was cast entered heart and soul into the struggle for independence.

In his message and speeches and in his Farewell Address, George Washington was temperate of speech and evinced moderation in all his counsels and admonitions. His advice has been invaluable in keeping this Nation on a safely conservative course, both as to its domestic affairs and as to its relations with other countries.

Moderation, in the main, has marked the course of the American people, both as to internal affairs and as to their dealings with other nations. And this gospel of moderation was preached by George Washington and was exemplified by him in his public life, as presiding officer of the convention which framed the United States Constitution, and as President of the United States.

Moral Obligation in Business

Linotype Bulletin

No man can make a sound article unless he makes it with an uncompromising sense of his moral obligation to the buyer. In the case of a productive machine, this sense of moral obligation is at the very foundation of business.

Purchase of equipment does not mean simply the transitory expenditure of a given sum of money. It is an investment. It is a good investment only if it returns a maximum profit a maximum period.

If it falls short of the best results, if it fails to make a maximum economy with the best attainable product, it is a bad investment; and a bad investment is bad not because of the original cost, but because it costs money and more money as long as it continues.

There is only one way known to make a manufactured article valuable, and that is to put the value into it. This is why absolutely efficient, scientific shop management is imperative in the modern factory.

The manufacturer has the moral obligation, not only to his workers, but to the buyer, to maintain an organization so fairly treated that every man in it will give the best that is in him to the product.

Equal in importance is a minutely thorough cost-finding system, for as it is the manufacturer's moral obligation to put maximum value into a machine, so it is his obligation to give that value to the buyer at a legitimate price, stripped of all avoidable costs and expenses due to waste.

The man who sells below cost and the man who extorts an illegitimate profit are equally denying that moral obligation which demands that every business transaction shall be just, and therefore profitable to both parties to the bargain.

SCHOOL

I put my heart to school
In the world where men grow wise;
"Go out," I said, "and learn the rule;
Come back when you win a prize."

My heart came back again:
"Now where is the prize?" I cried—
"The rule was false, and the prize was pain,
"And the teacher's name was Pride."

I put my heart to school
In the woods where verities sing
And brooks run clear and cool,
In the fields where wild flowers spring.

"And why do you stay so long,
My heart, and where do you roam?"
The answer came with a laugh and a song—
"I find this school is home."

PUTTING DRAMA IN ITS PLACE.

An idea of some of the difficulties under which people throughout the country labor in any attempt to reap profit from judgment and opinion in matters artistic will be gained from the following experience of the late Creation Clarke, the actor.

While playing in a good-sized city, he was approached one day on the street by an eager young man, who said: "How do you do, Mr. Clarke? I saw your performance last night. I'm on the star."
"Oh!" said Mr. Clarke, "And how do you like newspaper work?"
"I think it's fine," replied the youth. "I'm just starting in at it. I'm only dramatic critic now, but if I do well they're going to give me police work."—Everybody's.

HAD DONE WELL.

Jinkaby had a new gun and was anxious to see how he would feel in a hold-up, such events having been of appalling frequency in that suburb. So he sauntered out after supper against his wife's advice.

"Fellow bumped into me at the corner and started to run. I held him up, then noticed he had nabbed my watch. I made him give it up, and here it is," triumphantly dangling the time-piece and chain in the air.

"That would be all right," said his wife dryly, "only you didn't take your own watch with you—there it lies on the dresser!"

Around the Town

By the Staff

HERE'S THE SWEET POTATO. Since Fred Townner offers to furnish a "possum to anyone who will catch it, here's a sweet potato to match the possum."

It is growing in County Treasurer J. C. Joplin's office.

A courthouse may be a strange place for a sweet potato patch. It would be a strange place for a watermelon patch, and watermelon's wouldn't last as long as they do in a cornfield.

However, the sweet potato is growing in the county officer's office.

Not so long ago, Treasurer Joplin was telling Miss Gladys Field, deputy treasurer, that a sweet potato placed with one end in a jar would send out great sprouts and keep on growing for weeks.

"I had one at the world's fair at St. Louis," said Joplin, who was Orange county representative at that fair. "and thousands of people stopped to see it."

Inspired by the picture, Miss Field brought a large handsome potato from home and arranged it in a jar of water.

Soon a half dozen lusty sprouts appeared. These sprouts grew into three and four feet of vine, and the vine has been trained on strings alongside the window. The air is quite well filled with sprouts sent out from the submerged portion of the sweet potato.

"How long will it grow?" was asked of Joplin.

"Oh, along into next summer," said he.

FIRST LEADVILLE GOLD.

A few days ago, Fred Rafferty, East Tenth street, happened to pick up an old book that belonged to his father, L. N. Rafferty, who lived in Santa Ana from 1882 to the time of his death in 1903, and in that book was found a receipt that ought to be framed and hung in the office of the Chamber of Commerce, board of trade or whatever other civic organization the city of Leadville, Colo., has of that nature.

For that receipt was an express company receipt for the first shipment of gold out of California Gulch, which afterward became famous as Leadville.

It was issued to Rafferty & Stevens September 11, 1860, by the Central Overland California and Pike's Peak Express company for $26,000 shipped to St. Joseph, Mo. The express charge was $520.

"My father and George Stevens took this gold out by placer mining," said Rafferty. "It was many years after that that the place got its big boom and became famous. The two men decided to get their gold out. Fearing a hold-up, quietly they shipped it. Then my father let it be known that he was to leave on a certain day. He didn't leave on that day, but the stage that left on that day was held up, but the gold had already gone through. The shipment actually came to $28,000."

PIONEER BOOSTERS.

Speaking of old-time affairs, E. A. White, local shipper, a few days ago came across a clipping telling of the organization of the first chamber of commerce in Santa Ana.

"A board of trade was organized here in 1889," said White. "This was changed into a chamber of commerce March 13, 1895, at a have been assembled at the two meeting attended by fifty of the 123 members. A committee of thirty-five was appointed to man-pioneers. The information obtained from those sources was said to show conclusively that the ruins of those men are still citizens of Santa Ana. They are George A. Edgar, G. J. Mosbaugh, C. C. Col-lean.

Adventures of the Twins

A Mix-Up Windmill

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins continued their journey in Mix-Up Land.

But it seemed silly, as Nancy said, to try to chase a house that kept jumping around so, as Jack Straw's did. Just now it was up on top of a high steeple and kept spinning around when the wind blew, like a weather cock.

"I should think it would fall to pieces," said Nick, "as it's only made of dominoes stuck together."

"It certainly would," said a voice, "but, you see, all four winds keep blowing on it at once. That's like four fingers holding a puzzle, it can't fall apart."

"Who is talking?" demanded Nancy. "We can't see anybody."

"Who are you?"
"Look down the deep hole in front of you," answered the voice. "It's a hill that got turned upside down when everything else got turned upside down in Mix-Up Land."

The Twins looked, and sure enough, there was the hole.

"Now look at the very bottom," said the voice, "and tell me what you see."

"I just see a queer-looking thing. I feel too awful about it even to be careful of my grammar. I should say 'it is I,' although feeling as much ashamed as I do, I hate to say it is either me or I."

"What are you, please?" asked Nancy, who was getting so mixed up herself she couldn't understand a word.

"I'm a windmill that used to stand on top of a high hill. That's what I am. I used to wave my arms whenever I liked. Now look at me! when that rogue, Jack Straw, turned his thumb-ring and made Apple-Pie Land into Mix-Up Land, he fixed me. I wish you could get inside of his domino house and put him out."

"We'll try," promised Nick obligingly.
